IMPORTANT BATTLE IS BELIEVED IMMINENT.

Austrians Hurrying to Aid Against French Turning Movement.

Germans Inundate the Seille Valley, to Hinder Advance Near Metz.

Official reports from France give no definite details of the strength of the French turning movement in Alsace, near the Swiss frontier, where General Joffre is believed to be in command. Austrian troops have been hurriedly brought up there to the aid of the Germans and an important battle is believed to be imminent.

Indications are given that a forward movement is in preparation at Metz, as official reports from Paris say the German troops have inundated the Seille valley between Metz and Nancy, to hinder the French advance, but the quantity of water is known to be insufficient to prevent the French forward movement.

Aside from the flanking movement through Belgium, by which the French assume the German army was trying to reach the rear of the great French fortresses on the frontier, indications are today that a strong German advance is to be made on France by way of Luxembourg.

A German reconnoitering patrol penetrated 46 miles into French territory. The London Daily Telegraph's Brussels correspondent says Germany is mobilizing 1,000,000 of the lanstrum or final reserves.

Numerous skirmishes are recorded along the Franco-German front, none, however, very serious.

French troops are reported from Paris to have seized a German aeroplane factory at Muelhausen.

German troops are in occupation of the town of Liege, but not of the surrounding forts, which were still holding out today, according to Belgian reports.

A lull in the fighting was announced from Brussels, where the expectation is expressed that the next clash will occur when the allied forces have completed plans to take the offensive against the German troops.

Brussels reports the German cavalry retiring before the French advance. German cruisers Goeben and Breslau have evaded their British and French pursuers and arrived in the Adriatic. An Austrian fleet is reported proceeding from Pola to succor them.

Paris reports the Austrian troops to have fallen back before the Servians on the Bosnian frontier. Montenegrin artillery bombarded the Austrian fortifications at the port of Cattaro yesterday.

Austrian cruisers bombarded Antivari, Montenegro.

A small group of German soldiers who sought refuge on Dutch territory are to be detained at Alkmaar, Holland, till the end of the war.

Reports have reached New York that North German Lloyd steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm has been captured by British cruiser Essex.

WILL RE-INFORCE GERMANS.

Austrian Troops Arrive at Basel, Switzerland.

LONDON, August 10.—The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company forwards a despatch from Basel, Switzerland, saying that the Austrian troops have arrived there, coming by way of Constance. They comprise 30,000 men of the Fourteenth corps, under command of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, which were withdrawn from Tyrol to prevent them being sent against the Servians. They will re-inforce the German troops encamped at Istein, where the Germans are massing on the hills, and in fortifications following the French success in Alsace.

MARTIAL LAW IN BELGIUM.

All Germans Ordered to Leave the Country as Soon as Possible.

BERLIN, via London, August 10.—The Brussels representative of the Official News Agency here telegraphs from Goch that martial law was declared in Belgium Sunday and all Germans have been ordered to leave the country as soon as possible. The correspondent says that what happened in Belgium during the past several days surpasses the imagination. After war was declared, more demolished all business places when either belonged to Germans or handled German goods. Every escutcheon bearing allusion to Germany was removed, and any one looking like a German was attacked in the streets or made the object of suspicion or of espionage. The most improbable anti-German reports were spread, the correspondent said, one of which was that German soldiers had tried to murder General Leman, governor of Liege.

Thousands of Germans have left Belgium since Thursday, under the protection of the American consul, for Holland. They were also chivalrously protected by the Belgian officers.

FOR INVASION OF FRANCE.

Germany Mobilizing More Men, Including Those of the Lanstrum.

LONDON, August 10.—A despatch to the Daily Telegraph from Brussels says that Germany is mobilizing another million men, who include those of the lanstrum, for the invasion of France.

GREAT BATTLE PREDICTED.

Belgians to Proceed to Manur After Fall of Last Liege Forts.

NEW YORK, August 10.—Pierre Mail, Belgian consul at New York, said this afternoon that, according to his advices from Belgium, only two of the forts at Liege remained standing today against the German invasion. These two, he said, would be abandoned and the Belgian soldiers would retreat in good order. Then they would proceed to Manur and join 100,000 French troops there. Manur is

KRONPRINZ WILHELM REPORTED CAPTURED.

Seized by the Essex and Taken to Bermuda As a Prize.

North German Lloyd Officials Give Little Credit to Story.

NEW YORK, August 10.—From two sources today came a report that North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm had been captured by British cruiser Essex and taken to Bermuda as a prize. Liner Narragansett reported having heard a wireless message to this effect, and the manager of the Royal Mail steam packet whose ships run to Bermuda said he had heard a similar report.

Customs inspectors who boarded British tank steamer Narragansett, in today from Rotterdam, were informed by a sailor of the Narragansett's crew that North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm had been captured by British cruiser Essex and the Essex was taking her to Hamilton, Bermuda. The sailor said a wireless message last Saturday from the Essex to the station in Bermuda, interpreted by the Narragansett, told of the capture. North German Lloyd line official disbelieved the story. No word, they said, had been received from the liner.

The manager of the Royal Mail steam packet, Mr. Prince, said he had every reason to believe the report is true. He would not say where he had heard it, but it is believed that the British consul was his authority.

The report was given credence here in view of the announcement by the Canadian government made at Ottawa last night that the Essex had advised by a sailor of the Narragansett's crew that North German Lloyd liner Kronprinz Wilhelm had been captured by British cruiser Essex and the Essex was taking her to Hamilton, Bermuda.

A cryptic despatch from the correspondent of the Associated Press at Bermuda indicated that he had some news which he would like to communicate, but could not on account of the censorship. It was in reply to a message informing him of the reported capture of the Kronprinz Wilhelm by the Essex.

A despatch from San Juan said German cruiser Karlsruhe had arrived there Sunday morning, taken on enough coal to permit her to steam to Hamburg, and would leave this morning. The Karlsruhe is believed to be one of the German cruisers which have been harrying French and British vessels leaving New York for European ports. If she was short of coal and did not secure further supplies from the Kronprinz Wilhelm she

THE NATION'S TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT'S WIFE.

Coffin Surrounded by Flowers from All Over the Country.

Simple Funeral Services Held Early This Afternoon.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—The nation today is paying its final tribute to Mrs. Woodrow Wilson. Arrangements for the funeral services in the East Room of the White House at 2 o'clock this afternoon were marked by simplicity such as Mrs. Wilson desired. Only members of the Wilson family and few intimate members of the cabinet and their wives, committee members from the Senate and House, and the employees of the White House were asked to be present. Those invited made a group of less than 200 persons.

The mahogany casket, covered with grey broadcloth, was taken from the room in which Mrs. Wilson died to the East Room, and there surrounded by a profusion of beautiful flowers sent from all parts of the country. With the President and his daughters, Miss Margaret Wilson, Mrs. McAdoo and Mrs. Sayre were Secretary McAdoo, Francis B. Sayre and Professor Stockton Axson. Mrs. Wilson's brother who arrived here early today from Oregon. No music was arranged for the services, and Rev. Sylvester Beach of Princeton, N. J., the Wilson family pastor for many years, and Rev. J. H. Taylor of Washington, whose church the President has attended since coming to Washington, decided on the simplest form of service.

The members of the Senate committee, headed by Vice President Marshall, gathered in the marble room of the Capitol to hear the speaker of the House, together with Speaker Clark and the other members of the House committee, which included the senior member of each state delegation, met also at the Capitol to attend the funeral in a body.

There were no honorary pall bearers. A group of White House attendants who have been on duty there for many years were honored by being chosen to bear the casket.

Both houses of Congress were in recess until tomorrow, and an order has been issued that all government departments be closed at 1 o'clock today and tomorrow afternoon. All flags in the city on public buildings and private homes and stores were at half-mast.

The trip to Rome, Ga., where Mrs. Wilson will be buried late Tuesday, beside her mother and father in the Arlington Cemetery, will be made on a special train. The South was planned to pay tribute to Mrs. Wilson's life as the special train passes toward Rome. In Alexandria, Va., and many other cities and towns the church bells will be tolled.

A special car on the train will take the thousands of wreaths and floral tributes which have come to the White House since Mrs. Wilson died. It was arranged that the President and his three daughters would follow Mrs. Wilson's body to the special train, and then to return to the White House to await the time for departure some two hours later. Joseph F. Wilson, the President's brother, and George Howe, the President's cousin, will remain meanwhile on the funeral car. Since Mrs. Wilson's death the President or some other members of the family have been constant in the room with her body. The President took personal charge today of the final arrangements for the funeral.

Six police officers who have been on duty at the White House for many years were selected to bear the casket to the hearse. They were Forest Parks, John F. Jamieson, H. F. Hutton, John Bramlett, Eugene K. Davis and Henry Gilbert.

Among the mourners at the White House was Major Charles Lowefort, who for 41 years was doorkeeper for successive Presidents. He was among the pall bearers at the funeral of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, who died in the White House.

REPLY TO WILSON'S TENDER.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—Secretary Bryan announced today that he had received acknowledgment of President Wilson's tender of good offices from Austria-Hungary, France, Great Britain and Russia. The State Department is continuing its efforts for the release of Mr. and Mrs. Archer M. Huntington of New York, who were arrested in Nuremberg.

The State Department has been informed that Sweden's attitude will be neutral.

IS FRANCE PREPARED?

EASIEST KIND OF PICKING.

Army Strength and Matter of Fortifications Are Vital Factors in Situation.

Soldiers Less Trained Than Germany's, But More Efficient, and Will Render Good Account.

As the five embattled powers of Europe close in upon each other the question uppermost in every mind has reference to the degree of preparedness of France. Is her army equal to the titanic task of attacking or even of resisting Germany's great fighting machine? The answer is difficult to give. There are many factors wholly unknown outside of France, and even in France opinion seems to be divided.

It is quite certain that France cannot put so many men in the field as Germany. Her army is some 190,000 men less in time of peace and perhaps 1,000,000 inferior upon an ultimate war footing. This is a serious handicap in itself, but it is more—far more—than offset by the fact that Germany has to face two adversaries at the extremities of her realm, whereas Italy being neutral, France can concentrate her whole force on the Asiatic front.

Regardless of all other elements, that of command will doubtless have a strong, if not determining, effect on the result. In this regard comparisons are mere guesswork. Every one acknowledges the high scientific standard of the German staff, von Moltke, down, but not one of them has ever commanded troops in actual warfare. French commanders have seen much more real fighting, but never on a great scale. In Morocco and elsewhere they have shown skill and efficiency.

The question of the motor has been hoisted, and road-clearing is one which is likely to vex both the motorists and the world for some time to come. Much has been heard of late about the existence of these signals, and we may fairly hope that the revision of the existing regulations will soon put an end to the worst practices that disturb the quiet of our cities, according to the French May, secretary of state for the interior, who says further: "In the event of an accident, however, one of the first questions asked is: 'Did you sound your horn?' And a negative reply may be considered always to produce an impression unfavorable to the driver. Accordingly numbers of motorists sound warnings on approaching every cross-road and every sharp bend, in addition to making other more obviously necessary calls, since the law makes it compulsory to carry some signalling device. The mere fact that signalling is so easily practiced to the detriment of the law is allowed to prejudice the case. It is practically made signalling compulsory at every cross-road, at the overlooking of every vehicle, and at the passing of every pedestrian who may be in the way, thus giving the driver the curb to the roadway.

"A number of motorists carry a musically toned instrument, sometimes alone and sometimes in addition to a rattle and road-clearer. Others satisfy themselves with a horn. The increasing demand for the road-clearer is, unfortunately, due to the difficulty of proving in many accident cases before the court that the driver did, in fact, sound any milder instrument. Moreover, by a kindly and unwise feeling of tolerance, mindful of his own childhood—a policeman has seldom been known to admonish children who catch on the rear of wagons and jump off without notice. Other similar disturbances all go to show that pedestrians and motorists alike must be warned by noise in excess of that around them. So experience proves that they must be warned in a manner obnoxious to each, justify the carrying of noise-producing machines of the worst type.

"The loud noise being thus necessary, a direction in which improvement might be effected is that of making it more harmonious. The principle of the gramophone in the automobile is already in use, the loudness which is obtained from these instruments without increasing the relative harshness rendering their utilization advantageous. But this booming nuisance could be avoided by enforcing the rule upon all highway users of keeping to the right. Upon the open highways wagons and motor cars should always leave on their left a full clearway for an overtaking or passing vehicle, and in the event of a necessary movement be made by it into the clearway so provided it should be compulsory for the driver to signal to other road users by extending his hand.

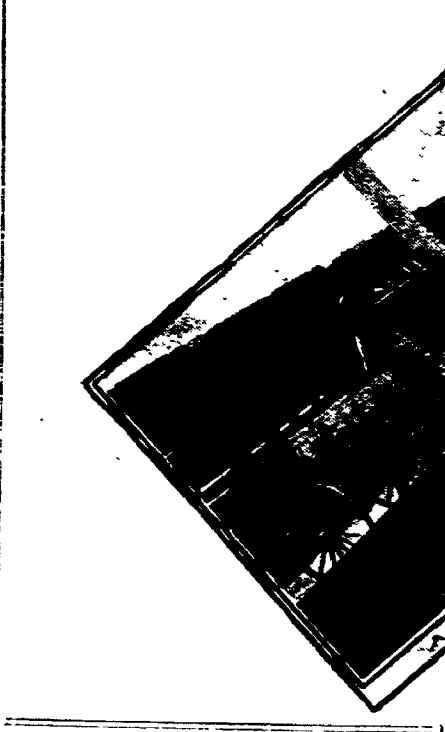

"In cities the rule should be not only extended, but all vehicles should be obliged to keep not only to the right of the middle line, as in the country, but also to the extreme right of the available road space. The country rule would have the effect of dividing the wear of the road, and the cars which are coming are those which are going would not run on the same tracks, and the effect of the city rule would be that all slow-moving vehicles would be found close to the curb, while the fast ones would be found nearer to the middle of the road, to the great advantage of foot passengers, and, above all, with a great increase in the carrying power of the road and the speed of traffic.

"The pedestrian's right should remain undisturbed, whether he is in France, or is one not effecting a report on her theoretically 'safe' side?

As for the general condition of the French army it is beyond question that it was superior in 1870. Its mobilization was faster for the time being, and the moment of war finds far greater concentration in the field of the coming contest. Until recently it was supposed to be perfect in equipment as well as admirable in training and morale, and as late as July 11 Senator Humbert submitted a report to the French senate in which he not margin on two different occasions, but rallied each time and succeeded in tying the score, only to see the Newporters come back strong with hits which produced runs. Gibson led the Newporters in batting with four hits in five appearances, being robbed of the fifth by a sensational catch. Sheehan was there with three hits which included a double, and all made with runners, and a home run also batted well, while White made two hits, the last of which sent in the winning run.

Attleboro was behind by a three-run

The performance of "Pete" Weaver on third was little short of sensational. He speared three sizzling liners which would have landed home had they not been caught by the outfielders. By the way, and in addition, nailed two four flies after running to the bleachers. Weaver had 10 chances at the hot corner, and accepted nine. Attleboro scored the first run in the third, when the bases were full and Abbott counted on a short and a home run. The Newporters went ahead in their half of the same inning. Weaver walked and Tubley sacrificed him to second. Byrnes fanned, but Sheehan slammed out a two-bagger which scored Weaver with the tying run. Gibson landed on the first one pitched for a Texas leaguer to centre, scoring Sheehan.

Three singles and a base on balls forced in White in the fourth, and Diggle's hit tallied Bull in the next. The Newport infield slipped in the sixth, three singles and three errors allowing the invaders to tie up the score.

The Newporters came back in fine form in their half of the same inning. Byrnes began it by stroking to first, and Tubley singled. Sheehan was the eighth man in a pinch again, his safe smash scoring both Tubley and Byrnes. Gibson boomed a hit past the center fielder for a home run, scoring Sheehan ahead of him, making four runs with none down.

In an attempt to check the Newport batting, Attleboro changed pitchers and the team in general, and made it interesting in the eighth, when they tied the score again, with two down. Abbott doubled, Kelly walked and Champlain singled, scored Abbott. Waldron's hit tied the score.

The Newporters won the game in the eighth. Bull began the rally with a long double to the right field fence, and Gibson sent him to third on his fourth hit. White made the single which sent in Bull with the last run.

Training Station added another to its string of victories Sunday afternoon at Narragansett park, when the Warren Shoe Company team met defeat by a 6-3 score. In a game featured by the playing of two girls—Miss Murphy of Warren and Miss Margaret Walsh of this city. The Warren girls resistance made by the great, determined she did not secure any hits she made a run when sent first on a base on balls, making 12 put-outs without a hit. Miss Walsh of this city also batted the bag well for a hit, and was applauded every time she made a put-out.

Burne twirled for the sailors, and was a hit best form, holding the visitors to three hits, well scattered. Monahan caught for the Training Station, did well at both bat and field, hitting the ball for a perfect average and accepting 15 chances. Training Station had his big inning in the second when it made enough runs to win the contest.

IS FRANCE PREPARED?

Army Strength and Matter of Fortifications Are Vital Factors in Situation.

Soldiers Less Trained Than Germany's, But More Efficient, and Will Render Good Account.

As the five embattled powers of Europe close in upon each other the question uppermost in every mind has reference to the degree of preparedness of France. Is her army equal to the task of attacking or even of resisting Germany's great fighting machine? The answer is difficult to give. There are many factors wholly unknown outside of France, and even in France opinion seems to be divided.

It is quite certain that France cannot put so many men in the field as Germany. Her army is some 100,000 men less in time of peace and perhaps 1,000,000 inferior upon an ultimate war footing. This is a serious handicap in itself, but it is more far more than offset by the fact that Germany has to face two adversaries at the extremities of her realm, whereas, Italy being neutral, France can concentrate her whole force on the Atlantic frontier.

Regardless of all other elements, that of command will doubtless have a strong, if not a determining, effect on the result. In this regard comparisons are mere guesswork. Every one acknowledges the high scientific standard of the German officers, from the chief of the general staff, von Moltke, down, but not one of them has ever commanded troops in actual warfare. The French commanders have seen more real fighting, but never on great scale. In Morocco and elsewhere they have shown skill and efficiency.

The question of the motor horn, motor, strom and road-clearer is one which is likely to weigh both the motorists and the world for some time to come. Much has been heard of late about the misuse of these signals, and we may fairly hope that revision of the existing regulations will soon put an end to the worst practices that are the cause of our cities, according to Mitchell, may be said to be in a state of New York, who says further:

"In the event of an accident, however, one of the first questions asked is: 'Did you sound your horn?' And a negative reply may be considered always to produce an impression unfavorable to the driver. Accordingly numbers of motorists sound warning on approaching every cross-road, turning, every sharp bend, in addition to making other more obviously necessary calls, since the law makes it compulsory to carry some signaling device. The mere fact that signaling or not is allowed to prejudice the case has practically made signaling compulsory at every cross-road, and at the passing of every pedestrian who may be expected to step by chance from the curb to the roadway.

A number of motorists carry a musically toned instrument, sometimes alone and sometimes in addition to a raucous road-clearer. Others satisfy themselves with a horn. The increasing demand for the road-clearer is, unfortunately, due to the difficulty of proving in many accident cases before the court that the driver, in fact, sound any milder instrument. Moreover, by kindly warning the wise feeling of tolerance toward his own childhood—a policeman has seldom been known to admonish children who catch on the rear of wagons and jump off without notice. These and other similar disturbances all go to show that pedestrians and motorists alike must be warned by noise in excess of the amount that is experienced by those who must be warned in a manner obvious enough to justify the carrying of noise-producing machines of the worst type.

The loud noise being thus necessary, a direction in which improvement might be effected by making it more harmonious. The principle of the gramophone or the autograph is already in use, the loudness which is obtained from three instruments without increasing the relative harshness rendering their utilization advantageous. But this horrible nuisance could be reduced by enforcing the rule upon all highway users of keeping to the right. Upon the open highways wagons and motor cars should always leave on their left a full clearance for an overtaking or passing vehicle, and, in the event of a necessary movement being made by it into the clearance so provided should be completed by the driver to signal to other road users by extending his hand.

"In cities the rule should be not only stricter, but all vehicles should be obliged to keep not only to the right of the middle line, as in the country, but also to the extreme right of the available space. The country rule would have the effect of dividing the year of the road, since the cars which are coming and those which are going would not run on the same tracks, and the effect of the city rule would be that all slow-moving vehicles would be found close to the curb, while the fast ones would be found nearer the middle of the road, to the great advantage of foot passengers, and, above all, with a great increase in the carrying power of the road and the speed of traffic.

The pedestrian's right should remain undisturbed when he crosses at a dash; but whether any one of them will rise to the demands of great warfare remains wholly conjectural.

Then there is the matter of fortifications. It has been said that nowadays the fortifications of Paris begin at the Lorraine border. It is known that all northeastern France is sprinkled over with fortifications, and other strong places defending every strategic point. Considering the resistance made by the great fortresses in 1870-71, despite every discouragement and handicap, it is probable that these will show great staying power, and may effectively check the German advance should the French army be beaten in the field.

But there is reason to believe that the Belgian frontier of France is far inferior in defense to the region east of it. The question, therefore, arises whether, should the Kaiser decide to disregard the neutrality of Belgium, he might not meet with only a feeble resistance in that part of France and thus successfully outflank the lines so studiously elaborated against his direct attack. This is one of the unknown quantities in the situation. Is France, or is she not, effectively fortified on her theoretically "safe" side?

As for the general condition of the French army, it is beyond question vastly superior to what it was when war was begun in 1870. Its mobilization is far better provided for and the moment of war finds far greater concentration in the field of the coming contest. Until recently it was supposed to be perfect in equipment as well as admirable in training and morale; but as lately as July 11 Senator Humbert submitted a report to the French senate in which he not Newports earlier in the season, and since Ralph O'Connell was unable to enter the line-up, leaving a big hole at short and weakening the team generally. The Newporters had their batting eyes, as a total of 15 hits for 19 bases shows, against eight hits for nine bases by the visitors.

margin on two different occasions, but rallied each time and succeeded in tying the score, only to see the Newporters come back strong with hits which produced runs. Gibson led the Newporters in batting with four hits in five appearances, being rubbed out the fifth by a sensational catch. Sheehan was there with three hits which included a double, and all made with runners on bases. Gibbs with a single and a home run also batted well, while White made two hits, the last of which sent in the winning run.

The performance of "Pete" Weaver on this was little short of sensational. He appeared three dazzling liners which would have called runs had they not been, and in addition, called two foul flies after running to the bleachers. Weaver had 10 chances at the bat corner, and accepted nine.

Attleboro scored the first run in the third, when they had the bases full and Abbott counted on a short passed ball. The Newporters went ahead in their half of the same inning. Weaver walked and Tubley sacrificed him to second. Byrnes fanned, but Sheehan slammed out a two-bagger which scored Weaver with the tying run. Gibbs landed on the first one pitched for a Texas leaguer to center, scoring Sheehan.

Three singles and a base on balls forced in White in the fourth, and Diggins hit Tubley in the next. The Newport infield slipped in the sixth, three singles and three errors allowing the invaders to tie up the score.

The Newporters came back in fine form in their half of the same inning. Tubley began it by stroking a first, and Byrnes singled. Sheehan was the right man in a pinch again, his safe smash scoring both Tubley and Byrnes. Gibbs became a hit, put the center fielder for a home run, scoring Sheehan ahead of him, making four runs with none down.

In an attempt to check the Newport batting Attleboro changed pitchers and made the team in general, and made it interesting in the eighth, when they tied the score again with two down. Abbott doubled, Kelly walked and Champlain's single scored Abbott. Waldron's hit tied the score.

The Newporters won the game in the eighth. Bull began the rally with a long double to the right field fence, and Gibson sent him to third. The fourth safe hit White made the single which sent in Bull with the last run.

Training Station added another to its string of victories Sunday afternoon at Narragansett park, when the Warren Shoe Company team met defeat by a 2-3 score, in a game featured by the playing of two girls—Miss Murphy of Warren and Miss Margaret Walsh of this city. The Warren girls was a wonder in the field, and while she did not secure any hits she made a run when sent round the sacks, after having reached first on a base on balls. She put up a fine game in the field, making 12 put-outs without an error. Miss Walsh of this city also played the bag well for a girl, and was applauded every time she made a put out.

Burns twirled for the sailors, and was in his best form, holding the visitors to three hits, well scattered. Monahan, who caught for the Training Station, did well at both bat and field, hitting the ball for a perfect average and accepting 15 chances. Training Station had its big inning in the second when it made enough runs to win the contest.

National Housewives' League Sends Appeal to Members.

NEW YORK, August 8.—The National Housewives' League today sent to all its members throughout the United States an appeal urging that every family live as simply as possible while the war in Europe is in progress.

"Extremes being at this time," the appeal asserts, "with inflated prices and scarce great suffering among the poor." The appeal is signed by the officer of the executive committee of the league.

THE CONTINENT TO LONDON.

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Jay, Arrive, After Many Troubles on the Way.

A special cable despatch from London to the New York Times says: Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Jay arrived in London Saturday morning with their motor car, but without baggage, from the Continent. They were motoring from Germany and finally managed to approach the Dutch frontier. They were turned back and hung up in a small town near the frontier for several days.

Through the good offices of a hotel keeper they secured a pass signed by the German general, which sent them to Holland with the motor car. They were among the few tourists who did not have their car commandeered by the military. They reached The Hague and succeeded in boarding the boat bringing Sir Edward Goschen, the British ambassador at Berlin. The Jays' troubles were not over, for they were not allowed to land at first, as Harwich is a closed port to aliens. They were forced to spend the night there until special permission was obtained Saturday morning for them to land.

Aliens are now allowed to enter the country only at Aberdeen, Dundee, West Hartlepool, Hull, London, Folkestone, Portsmouth, Bristol, Holyhead, Liverpool, Greenock, Dublin and Rosslare.

GOOD TEAM PLAY.

Meadow Brooks Defeat Tigers, and Scarboroughs the Golfers, at Polo.

In the final for the Junior championship at the Point Judith Polo Club, Narragansett Pier, Saturday afternoon, the Meadow Brooks defeated the Aiken Tigers before a banner crowd by the score of 11 to 5½. The contest was fast and rapt with good team play by the contesting fours.

The work of Tilney and Watson Webb, whose lengthy left-hand drives were mainly responsible for the majority of the tallies scored by the Magpies, was the feature. Howard Phelps who played back for the winning quartet, was much in evidence and his defensive work noteworthy. Shaw, McKean and Earl Hoppling worked well together, and Earl showed his old-time skill after being away for about two weeks with an injured shoulder.

The line-up was as follows: Meadowbrook Magpies—1 N. L. Tilney, 2 J. Watson Webb, 3 W. Goodby, 4 Howard Phelps.

Aiken Tigers—1 S. McKean, 2 E. W. Hoppling, 3 T. Le Bouteiller, 4 B. K. Galt.

Score: Meadowbrook—Goals earned 11, total 11; Aiken Tigers—Goals earned 5, less penalties ½, total 5½. Individual goals—Tilney 4, Webb 3, Lewis 2, Phelps 2, Hoppling 1, McKean 2. Penalties—Paul against Tigers. Goals—Crosby, Welsh, Referee—Speiser. Fiske. Timer—R. W. Joyce.

On No. 2 field the Scarboroughs defeated the Golfers, 9½ to 8, in a closely-contested game in which Bell and Stewart excelled. Stokes' hard drives were also a feature. The latter game was for special prizes offered by P. S. Randolph.

The line-up and handicaps follow: Scarboroughs—P. S. Randolph, Jr., 1; E. Fowler, 2; C. Victor, 3; C. Mathier, 4; Barclay McFadden, 5; total, 2.

Golfers—J. A. Converse, 2; A. M. Collins, 3; W. B. Stewart, 4; John R. Fell, 5; total, 11.

Score: Scarborough—Goals earned 8, less penalties 2, less penalties 2, total 9½; Golfers—Total 8. Individual goals—Stokes 4, Mathier 3, McFadden, Converse, Fell 1, Stewart 3. Penalties—Against Scarborough safety by Randolph, Jr., ½ off. Referee—O'Connell. Timer—Joyce. Time—18. 20m.

WILL NOW MEET AMERICA.

Australians Go to New York to Prepare for the Finals; British Sail for Home.

Having obtained the right to meet America in the challenge round for the Davis cup, the Australasian team defaulted the two singles matches which were to have been played with the team from the British Isles at Boston Saturday. This left the final score between the countries 3 to 2 in favor of the cup aspirants from the Antipodes. The defaults were those of Norman E. Brookes to A. F. Lowe and A. F. Wilde to J. C. Burke.

The other two members of the Australasian team, S. N. Dunst and A. W. Dunlop, played exhibition games with Lowe and Park for the benefit of the crowd, but today was far too sultry for fast tennis.

Lowe won the first set of his match with Dunst, 6-4, and had dropped the second, 4-6, when, with the game all in the third set, the Australian threw down his racket and declared he had enough.

Then Park and Dunlop took the court but neither felt like tennis. Park winning about as he pleased, 6-0, 7-5, 6-3.

Under the conditions governing the cup substitution may be made if a player is incapacitated through illness, accident or other unavoidable cause. Captain Brookes gave none of these reasons for withdrawing himself and Wilde, so both were officially defaulted by Palmer Presbrey, the referee, with the approval, however, of Brookes.

The Australians left at once for New York, to prepare for this week's final matches for the Davis cup. Officers Park, Lowe and Maymored, into the British players left Boston Saturday evening on Cunard liner Franconia for Queenstown.

The fourth member of the team, Lieutenant Kingsley, sailed a few days ago on the St. Paul to rejoin his regiment. The departure of the other members was somewhat unexpected, as they had been entered in various tournaments and would, it was expected, play in the national tournament here.

ACTION FOLLOWS CENSORSHIP.

Wireless Apparatus on Ships of Warring European Powers Seized.

NEW YORK, August 10.—United States customs officers went out in revenue cutter Calumet today and seized the wireless apparatus of all vessels in the harbor flying the flag of the warring European powers. This action follows the censorship placed upon wireless stations along the coast to enforce the neutrality of the United States.

THE LAND OF BEGINNING AGAIN.

[The British Weekly.]

I wish that there were some wonderful place Called the Land of Beginning Again, Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches And all of our poor, selfish grief Could be dropped, like a shabby old coat, at the door, And never be put on again.

I wish we could come on it all unware, Like the hunter who finds a lost trail; And I wish that the one whom our blindness had done The greatest injustice of all Could be at the gates, like an old friend that waits For the comrade he's gladdest to hail.

We would find all the things we intended to do But forgot and remembered—too late. Little praises unspoken, little promises broken, And all of the thousand and one Little duties neglected that might have perfected The day for one less fortunate.

It wouldn't be possible not to be kind In the Land of Beginning Again; And the ones we misjudged and the ones whom we grudged Their moments of victory here Would find in the grasp of our loving handclasp More than penitent lips could explain.

For what had been hardest we'd know had been best, And what had seemed loss would be gain; For there isn't a thing that will not take wing When we've faced it and laughed it And I think that the laughter is most what we're after In the Land of Beginning Again!

So I wish that there were some wonderful place Called the Land of Beginning Again, Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches And all of our poor, selfish grief Could be dropped, like a shabby old coat, at the door, And never be put on again.

THE UNSTABLE EQUILIBRIUM OF EUROPE.

It is all very astonishing, what has happened in a few days in Europe, and yet it was not unexpected, only nobody expected it just now. Europe for many years has been in a condition of unstable equilibrium, and a small blow, the assassination of an Austrian heir to the throne by a Serbian, was sufficient to overthrow the centre of gravity.

With limited territories and limited ambitions, European nations might have maintained armies and navies of conventional size for generations with no danger of general hostilities. There might occasionally have been a little war, a war between two nations, but it need not have spread.

A few years ago national ambitions expanded. If this was due to one man more than another it was Bismarck, but this sort of thing is the work of more than one statesman. Germany robbed France and there was no possibility of permanent peace. Austria robbed Turkey ostensibly, but Serbia in fact, and sooner or later trouble in southeast Europe was assured. Russia has slowly rolled its way eastward to the Pacific and westward over prospective Finland and Poland, and what might she not undertake to appropriate next?

Each nation tried to have the biggest army or the biggest navy, or both. The costs of the military establishments threatened universal bankruptcy, according to a notable speech by Sir Edward Grey. The nations could not expand their armies and navies indefinitely. Last year all of them increased their forces and their taxes, and each knew that sort of thing could not go on forever, but when could any one of them stop? Only when it had destroyed the enemies against whom it was arming every year more and more.

So the trouble on the Danube gave Germany the opportunity it desired to destroy, if it could, all the nations on account of which it carried an immense military burden. France recognized the necessity of meeting any force thrown against it, and England recognized the crisis for which it had been maintaining an enormous naval force. Some powers are to be destroyed so that others can live without such armaments.

GERMAN ARMY LIFE.

Another German officer has written a description of German garrison life, the colors of which must have been borrowed from the bottomless pit. We have the testimony of Kipling that "Young men in barracks Don't grow into saints."

The conditions of barracks life are not the most favorable for the development of high character, and there are several conditions in Germany unusually unfavorable. The army is officered almost entirely from the nobility and gentry; that is, persons who regard themselves as much superior to the common run of people, privileged to do what the "lower classes" would not be suffered to do. Supported by royalty and nobility, and by the military spirit which has controlled and directed the empire for half a century, the army has been placed in a position of superiority to the civil population and the officers have been encouraged to assume toward civilians and enlisted men an attitude of absolute irresponsibility.

The officers are generally rich, or from rich families, and the army is the scene of indolence in peace. Profligacy, therefore, grows like a rank weed in the officers' quarters in the garrisons. The possession of power, very slightly restrained, develops brutality, and the private soldiers suffer at the hands of the officers and very much more at the hands—and feet—of the non-commissioned officers.

A few years ago a German lieutenant published an account of garrison life, which of course destroyed his military career, and if we are not mistaken sent him to prison. Now a captain has published a similar account. German public sentiment is not quite so submissive to militarism as it was formerly, but officers who lift the veil on garrison life and tell the truth about the treatment of the private soldiers cannot yet do it safely, and this one is likely to share the fate of the other.

Germany submits to the abuse and tyranny of its military caste because it is afraid of Russia on one side and France on the other, and feels that in the interests of national safety the army must be placated at all costs.

HAND-MINDED AND LANGUAGE-MINDED.

A school for the "hand-minded" is what the elementary industrial school of Cleveland is called. It was established to give "hand-minded" boys and girls as good a chance as the "language-minded" have always had. That city was the first in the United States to make a distinction between these two types of children, those who are fond of books and of study, and those who are not. There are elsewhere about half were leaving school in the sixth grade and the authorities saw that there was a great waste and that much of this was due to the attempt to force abstract intellectual effort upon boys and girls whose interest was in doing things and not in learning solely from books. The elementary industrial school was started to meet this situation and provide a remedy for the difficulty. In it half the time is devoted to study from books and the other half to manual and industrial training, including shop work, domestic economy and gymnasium practice. It has been found that with the boys the favorites are mechanical drawing and wood-working, and with the girls cooking and sewing. This is sufficient evidence that the time and effort of these children was wasted under the old plan and what was needed to make them interested and keep them in school was simply to give them something to do instead of something to learn from books. They like the "hand-minded" work and if they are given that they will devote some time to the "language-minded" work.

The school has been successful far beyond the expectations of those who established it and the enrollment doubled in four years. Pupils who had long lost interest in school work of any kind, and some who were known as dullards or incorrigibles, have become eager and alert, not only in the hand subjects but in the academic as well. All they needed was something which should interest them, mixed with the subjects and the work which did not interest, in order to stimulate a willingness and an aptitude for both kinds of education.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR ADULTS.

Playgrounds have been considered a provision of cities and towns for the children, but now they are viewed in a different and more progressive light. In some places arrangements have been made for their use at certain times for adults, so that all classes may have the benefits which come from these places of recreation. In East St. Louis still another departure is being made, in the erection of a huge grand stand for the use of the people in watching the games played and the contests among the children. This is interesting, because it is indicative of the fact that the people of that city are anxious to see how their children play.

It is easy to see that from watching the sports from a comfortable grand stand the advance to playing the games themselves will not be a long step and the probability is that the adults there will soon be asking for an opportunity to use the grounds. In places where this has already been done they are given evening hours, and that they appreciate the opportunity and the facilities is abundantly shown by their patronage of the playgrounds.

NEWARK'S SHADE TREES.

Newark, N. J., believes in the virtue and the value of shade trees. It has a commission and an ordinance governing the planting and care of such trees, and under the direction of this official and the terms of the ordinance in 10 years 27,000 young shade trees have been set out, lining 180 miles of streets. That is an accomplishment which it may be difficult to duplicate anywhere in the country. Too little attention is given to this subject in most places and whatever is done is more a spasmodic movement than a planned campaign. It is gratifying, therefore, to find that at least one city is making a systematic business of embellishment of its streets with trees and carrying it on as a regular department of municipal work. There is a lesson in this for other municipalities, and if it were learned the cities of this country would soon present a far different aspect.

One can find in the news columns all sorts of interesting stories, which may or may not be true, but are interesting nevertheless. One of the latest is that Germany has offered a slice of Morocco as a temptation to Spain for her assistance in the present crisis. This bid, it is reported, was made by the Kaiser simultaneously with his effort to tempt Italy to his side in the war by holding out to her the French colony of Algeria and the Belgian Congo, with its rich rubber plantations, as the minimum price of her assistance. Spain not only does not wish to be drawn into the general war, but also is rather inclined to abandon the strip of the North African coast awarded her in the Moroccan dispute. There is a growing feeling among the Spaniards that they ought to give this acquisition, as it has brought them nothing but trouble.

The war in Europe is helping the United States postal savings system. According to Postmaster General Burleson large numbers of wage earners of foreign birth are taking their savings to the postoffice, thereby releasing enormous sums for commercial purposes at a time when there is an urgent demand for every dollar. In New York last week the deposits quadrupled daily, and other large cities show surprising gains. The situation gives an impressive demonstration of public confidence in the good faith and stability of the United States government.

The Boston Board of Fire Underwriters having decided to raise the rates for insurance in that city, Chairman Cole of the Industrial Board proposed to carry the matter to the courts. He was ready to ask for an injunction against the proposed increase and to ask the United States Attorney General to look into the question as to whether or not there existed a combination to raise the rates. There was such an understanding. The rates were not raised and there will be a conference over the question.

There is a strike in Congress. Considerably more than half the members of the Senate and House have left Washington and it is with difficulty that a quorum is obtained in either body. Many Congressmen have said they would remain until August 1, but no longer, and vacant seats are in the majority. It is believed that even a Presidential ultimatum would not avail to bring the members back. Already several important measures, including appropriation bills, have been held up for lack of a quorum.

Now that the story of the naval engagement in the North Sea, sent out by Lord Northcliffe's London Evening News, has been officially denied by the Admiralty, and the paper severely censured in the House of Commons, Lord Northcliffe has published an abject apology. He could do no less, certainly.

Denmark, Norway and Sweden, not proposing to be brought into the general conflict in Europe, have agreed to continue in mutual peace. There was a time when these Scandinavian nations were not in perfect harmony, but now each needs its neighbors for mutual help.

Orange, N. J., has begun a war on the fly, having found 240 breeding places for the pest. How many such places are there in Newport? They must exist or there would be no flies.

Is it a German or a Belgian victory at Liege? At all events, the invasion of France has been checked, and in this respect at least the Kaiser has been disappointed.

Though Mexico does not occupy a very large place on the war map in these days, there are signs that there is still a little fighting among the factions there.

A SHORT AND CROWDED PROGRAM.

Tentative Plans for Great International Fleet's Trip Through Canal.

State Department Despatches Another Circular Note to Embassies and Legations Abroad.

As the result of a conference between the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, a tentative program has been prepared for the assembling in Hampton Roads and dispatch to San Francisco, by way of the Panama canal, of the great international fleet which has been invited by act of Congress to participate in the celebration of the completion of the Panama canal and the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Copies of this program have just been completed and dispatched to the various powers for presentation to the governments to which they are accredited. Subject to slight changes, this is the official program.

February 10-15, 1915—Foreign ships rendezvous at Hampton Roads.

February 20—Foreign naval representatives to be received by the President in Washington.

February 22—The President will proceed to Hampton Roads and there will command the fleet after which the fleet will proceed to the isthmus of Panama.

March 9—The President, on a battleship, will depart for the Panama canal.

March 10—The President arrives at Colon.

March 12—The President and fleet pass through the canal.

March 13—Ceremonies at Balboa, or Panama.

March 14—The President sails for San Francisco on a battleship.

March 14—The fleet leaves Balboa, proceeding to San Francisco.

March 23—The President arrives at San Francisco.

The original invitations to the maritime powers to send vessels to participate in these great events—the opening of the Panama canal and the San Francisco exposition—were sent in December, 1913, by the Navy Department. Responses have been received from 12 countries—Argentina, Republic, Austria-Hungary, Cuba, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Portugal, Russia, Sweden and Spain. It is certain that this does not by any means represent the total number of naval participants, for it is known that other governments are simply awaiting the further development of plans for these celebrations to signify their intention to participate.

Their decision will be hastened by another circular note which the State Department has just dispatched to American embassies and legations abroad. This circular asks for a reply to the question, first, the number of ships which the country will send; second, their size, and third, their steaming radius. Much depends upon the answers to these questions. Being the first, it is neither expected nor desired that there shall be a wholesale gathering of the navies of the world in Hampton Roads. The idea is, rather, to have a small but representative showing from each nation. It is expected that the greater naval powers will be more numerous, represented than the smaller states. Italy already has signified an intention to send a complete squadron of three line cruisers, under command of an admiral, and it may be that this offer will mark the proportion of representation of the other navies. The speed requirements of the long cruise from Hampton Roads to the Golden Gate will be rather severe—so much so, indeed, as to bar the participation in the great voyage any of the little gunboats which form the only strength of some of the small states.

The second question, relating to the size of the vessels, is important, as indicating the possibility of passing them in pairs, or even triplets, through the great locks of the canal and thereby saving valuable time; also it will assist the naval commander of the itinerary by informing him of the probability of the units to meet heavy weather conditions.

No less important is the third question, relating to the coal endurance of the vessels. The Navy Department must be advised of the maximum distance which each ship can make with full bunkers of coal, in order to plan for fresh supplies at the proper point. It is believed that if the navies represented comprise only the modern large-sized ships it will be possible to make the run of 1,900 miles from Hampton Roads to Colon without stop. In the canal fresh supplies of coal will be taken, but even then it may impose a severe strain upon the small vessels to make the run from Balboa to San Francisco—2,180 miles—and some of them may be obliged to put in for coal station in Lower California, or to take fuel from coliers in Magdalena bay on the west coast of Mexico. Some of the naval vessels of even the larger European powers are very deficient, according to American standards, in their coal endurance, principally because they were designed for home defense and short cruises.

Because floating ice in Chesapeake Bay sometimes makes it impossible for days at a time to take on coal and other supplies, and in order to guard against delay in the execution of the short and crowded program, the foreign naval vessels have been requested to assemble several days, at least in advance of the date of February 10 mentioned in the memorandum. Their commanding officers with their staffs will be the guests of the United States government, as will be the special naval representatives invited to attend. The presence of the latter will relieve the diplomatic body in Washington from the obligation to be present at Hampton Roads, which is fortunate in view of the fact that they are expected to attend the opening ceremonies of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, now fixed for February 20 without possibility of postponement.

The foreign naval contingent will be brought to Washington on a passenger steamer especially chartered for the purpose, and their stay in the National capital will necessarily be very short as they must see in Hampton Roads again on the anniversary of Washington's birthday, when President Wilson will review the fleet as it passes through the Chesapeake capes bound for Colon. The day after Congress adjourns the President will follow the fleet in one of the great dreadnaughts now under construction and expected to be complete about that time.

It is planned to divide the international fleet into four sections for the passage through the canal, and at least two of the average-sized warships can be accommodated in the 1,500-foot locks at one time, the entire fleet could be locked through in about two days. The features of the parade through the canal will be the old battleship Oregon, on the bridge of which will stand Admiral Clark, who commanded the fleet during the famous run round South America during the Spanish-American war; also Secretary Daniels and many other notables, and the tiny launch, one of the first boats to be employed by the French canal builders, and which has been, by act of Congress made a gift to the French government to commemorate the completion of the canal.

Very soon the officials here will take up the arrangement of a program for the exercises which will take place at Balboa to commemorate the formal opening of the waterway, but so far no attempt has been made to outline them beyond the delivery of an appropriate address by President Wilson.

WASHINGTON, August 10.—Forecast for northern New England—Unsettled tonight and Tuesday; probably local thunder showers; cooler Tuesday in Vermont; moderate south winds.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.
The pressure continues slightly above the normal along the Atlantic coast. The weather is unsettled in early portions of the country east of the Rocky mountains. There has been no rain in the New England or Middle Atlantic states, but all other districts east of the Rockies report moderate amounts of rain during the past 24 hours. Clear weather prevails this morning in parts of the Northwest. Temperatures continue low on the New England coast and seasonably high in other portions of the eastern half of the country. The lowest reported in the country during last night was 42 degrees at Williston, N. D., while in the British province of Saskatchewan a minimum of 22 degrees was reported with frost. In New York at 8 a. m. it was 78, Boston 66, Washington 74, Jacksonville 80, St. Louis 76, Chicago 76, St. Paul 68, Salt Lake City 62, Denver 60, San Francisco 55 and Portland Oregon, 50.

THE UNSTABLE EQUILIBRIUM OF EUROPE.

It is all very astonishing, what has happened in a few days in Europe, and yet it was not unexpected, only nobody expected it just now. Europe for many years has been in a condition of unstable equilibrium, and a small blow,
the assassination of an Austrian heir,
was sufficient to overthrow the centre of gravity.

With limited territories and limited ambitions, European nations might have maintained armies and navies of conventional size for generations with no danger of general hostilities. There might occasionally have been a little war, a war between two nations, but it need not have spread.

A few years ago national ambitions expanded. If this was due to one man
more than another, it was Bismarck,
but this sort of thing is the result of more than one statesman. Germany robbed France and there was no possibility of permanent peace. Austria robbed Turkey ostensibly, but Serbia
in fact, and sooner or later trouble in southeast Europe was assured. Russia has slowly rolled its way eastward to the Pacific and westward over prosta-tate Finland and Poland, and what might she not undertake to appropriate next?

Each nation tried to have the biggest army or the biggest navy, or both.
The costs of the military establishments threatened universal bankruptcy, according to a notable speech
by Sir Edward Grey. The nations could not expand their armies and navies indefinitely. Last year all of them increased their forces and their taxes, and each knew that sort of thing could not go on forever, but when could any one of them stop?
Only when it had destroyed the enemies against whom it was arming
every year more and more.

So the trouble on the Danube gave Germany the opportunity it desired to destroy, if it could, all the nations on account of which it carried an immense military burden. France recognized the necessity of meeting any force thrown against it, and England recognized the crisis for which it had been maintaining an enormous naval force. Some powers are to be destroyed so that others can live without such armaments.

GERMAN ARMY LIFE.

Another German officer has written a description of German garrison life,
the colors of which must have been borrowed from the bottomless pit. We have the testimony of Kipling that
"Young men in barracks Don't grow into plaster saints."

The conditions of barracks life are not the most favorable for the development of high character, and there are several conditions in Germany unusually unfavorable. The army is offered almost entirely from the nobility and gentry; that is, persons who regard themselves as much superior to the common run of people, privileged to do what the "lower classes"
would not be suffered to do. Supported by royalty and nobility, and by the military spirit which has controlled and directed the empire for half a century, the army has been placed in a position of superiority to the civil population and the officers
have been encouraged to assume toward civilians and enlisted men an attitude of absolute irresponsibility.

The officers are generally rich or from rich families, and the army is
the scene of indolence in peace.
Profligacy, therefore, grows like a rank weed in the officers' quarters in the garrisons. The possession of power, very slightly restrained, develops brutality, and the private soldiers suffer at the hands of the officers and very much more at the hands—and feet—of the non-commissioned officers.

A few years ago a German lieutenant published an account of garrison life, which of course destroyed his military career, and if we are not mistaken sent him to prison. Now a captain has published a similar account.
German public sentiment is not quite so subservient to militarism as it was formerly, but officers who lift
the veil on garrison life and tell the truth about the treatment of the private soldiers cannot yet do it safely, and this one is likely to share
the fate of the other.
Germany submits to the abuse and tyranny of its military life because it is afraid of Russia on one side and France on the other, and feels that in the interests of national safety the army must be played at
at all costs.

HAND-MINDED AND LANGUAGE-MINDED.

A school for the "hand-minded" is what the elementary industrial school of Cleveland is called. It was established to give "hand-minded" boys and girls as good a chance as the
"language-minded" have always had.
That city was the first in the United States to make a distinction between these two types of children, those who are fond of books and of study and those who are not. There are elsewhere about half were leaving school in the sixth grade and the authorities saw that there was a great waste and that much of this was due to the attempt to force abstract intellectual effort
upon boys and girls whose interest
was in doing things and not in learning solely from books. The elementary industrial school was started to meet
this situation and provide a remedy for the difficulty. In it half the time is devoted to study from books and the other half to manual and industrial training, including shop work,
domestic economy and gymnasium practice. It has been found that with the boys the favorites are mechanical drawing and wood-working, and with the girls cooking and sewing. This is sufficient evidence that the time and effort of these children was wasted
under the old plan and was needed to make them interested and keep them in school was simply to give them something to do instead of something to learn from books. They like the "hand-minded" work and if they are given that they will devote some time to the "language-minded"
work.

The school has been successful far beyond the expectations of those who established it and the enrollment doubled in four years. Pupils who had long lost interest in school work
of any kind, and some who were known as dullards or incorrigibles,
have become eager and alert, not only in the hand subjects but in the academic as well. All they needed was something which should interest them, mixed with the subject and the work which did not interest, in order to stimulate a willingness and an aptitude for both kinds of education.

PLAYGROUNDS FOR ADULTS.

Playgrounds have been considered a provision of cities and towns for the children, but now they are viewed in a different and more progressive light. In some places arrangements have been made for their use at certain times for adults, so that all classes may have the benefits which come from these places of recreation.
In East St. Louis still another departure is being made, in the erection of a huge grand stand for the use of the people in watching the games played and the contests among the children. This is interesting, because it is indicative of the fact that the people of that city are anxious to see how their children play.
It is easy to see that from watching the sports from a comfortable
grand stand the advance to playing the games themselves will not be a long step and the probability is that the adults there will soon be asking for an opportunity to use the grounds.
In places where this has already been done they are given evening hours,
and that they appreciate the opportunity and the facilities is abundantly shown by their patronage of the playfields.

NEWARK'S SHADE TREES.

Newark, N. J., believes in the virtue and the value of shade trees. It has a commission and an ordinance governing the planting and care of such trees, and under the direction of this official and the terms of the ordinance in 10 years 27,000 young shade trees have been set out, lining 150 miles of streets. That is an accomplishment which it may be difficult to duplicate anywhere in the country.
Too little attention is given to this subject in most places and whatever is done is more a spasmodic movement than a planned campaign. It is gratifying, therefore, to find that at least one city is making a systematic business of embellishment of its streets with trees and carrying it on
as a regular department of municipal work. There is a lesson in this for other municipalities, and if it were learned the cities of this country would soon present a far different appearance.

One can find in the news columns
all sorts of interesting stories, which may or may not be true, but are interesting nevertheless. One of the latest is that Germany has offered a slice of Morocco as a temptation to Spain for her assistance in the present crisis. This bid, it is reported, was made by the Kaiser simultaneously with his effort to tempt Italy to his side in the war by holding out to her
the French colony of Algeria and the Belgian Congo, with its rich rubber plantations, as the minimum price of her assistance. Spain not only does not wish to be drawn into the general war, but also is rather inclined to abandon the strip of the North African coast awarded her in the Moroccan dispute. There is a growing feeling among the Spaniards that they ought to give this acquisition, as it has brought them nothing but trouble.

The war in Europe is helping the United States postal savings system.
According to Postmaster General Burleson large numbers of wage earners of foreign birth are taking their savings to the postoffice, thereby releasing enormous sums for commercial purposes at a time when there is an urgent demand for every dollar. In New York last week the deposits quadrupled daily, and other large cities show surprising gains. The situation gives an impressive demonstration of public confidence in the good faith and stability of the United States government.

The Boston Board of Fire Underwriters having decided to raise the rates for insurance in that city, the Chairman of the Industrial Board proposed to carry the matter to the courts. He was ready to ask for an injunction against the proposed increase and to ask the United States Attorney General to look into the question as to whether or not there existed a combination to raise the rates. There was such an understanding. The rates were not raised and there will be a conference
over the question.

There is a strike in Congress. Considerably more than half the members of the Senate and House have left Washington, and it is with difficulty
that a quorum is obtained in either body. Many Congressmen have said they would remain until August 1, but no longer, and vacant seats are in the majority. It is believed that even a Presidential ultimatum would not avail to bring the members back. Already several important measures, including appropriation bills, have been held up for lack of a quorum.

Now that the story of the naval engagement in the North Sea, sent out by Lord Northcliffe's London Evening News, has been officially denied by the Admiralty, and the paper severely censured in the House of Commons, Lord Northcliffe has published an abject apology. He could do no less, certainly.

Denmark, Norway and Sweden, not proposing to be brought into the general conflict in Europe, have agreed to continue in mutual peace. There was a time when these Scandinavian nations were not in perfect harmony, but now each needs its neighbors for mutual help.

Orange, N. J., has begun a war on the fly, having found 240 breeding places for the pest. How many such places are there in Newport? They must exist or there would be no flies.

Is it a German or a Belgian victory at Liege? At all events, the invasion of France has been checked, and in this respect at least the Kaiser has been disappointed.

Though Mexico does not occupy a very large place on the war map in these days, there are signs that there is still a little fighting among the factions there.

A SHORT AND CROWDED PROGRAM.

Tentative Plans for Great International Fleet's Trip Through Canal.

State Department Despatches Another Circular Note to Embassies and Legations Abroad.

As the result of a conference between the Secretaries of State, War and Navy, a tentative program has been prepared for the assembling in Hampton Roads and dispatch to San Francisco, by way of the Panama cannel, of the great international fleet,
which has been invited by act of Congress to participate in the celebration of the completion of the Panama canal and the opening of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. Copies of this program have just been completed and dispatched to the various powers for presentation to the governments to which they are accredited. Subject to slight changes, this is the official program.

February 10-15, 1915—Foreign ships rendezvous at Hampton Roads. The February 22—Foreign naval representatives to be received by the President in Washington.

February 22—The President will proceed to Hampton Roads and there review the combined fleet, after which the fleet will proceed to the isthmus of Panama.

March 9—The President, on a battle-ship, will depart for the Panama canal.

March 10—The President arrives at Colon.

March 12—The President and fleet
pass through the canal.

March 13—Ceremonies at Balboa,
or Panama.

March 13—The President sails for San Francisco on a battleship.

March 14—The fleet leaves Balboa, proceeding to San Francisco.

March 23—The President arrives at San Francisco.

The original invitations to the maritime powers to send vessels to participate in these great events—the opening of the Panama canal and the Panama-Pacific exposition—were sent in September, 1913, to the governments of Argentina, Australia, Austrian-Hungary, Cuba, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Portugal,
Russia, Sweden and Spain. It is certain that this does not by any means represent the total number of naval participants, for it is known that other governments are simply awaiting the further development of plans for these celebrations to signify their intention to participate.

Their decision will be hastened by another circular note which the State Department has just dispatched to American embassies and legations abroad. This circular asks for a reply to three questions: first, the number of ships which the country will send; second, their size; and third,
their steaming radius. Much depends upon the answers to these questions.
Regarding the first, it is neither expected nor desired that there shall be a wholesale gathering of the navies of the world in Hampton Roads. The idea is, rather, to have a small but representative showing from each nation. It is expected that the greater naval powers will be more numerously
represented than the smaller states.
Italy already has signified an intention to send a complete squadron of three line cruisers, under command of an admiral, and it may be that this offer will mark the proportion of representation of the other navies. The speed requirements of the long cruise
from Hampton Roads to the Golden Gate will be rather severe—so much so,
indeed, as to bar from participation in the great voyage any of the little gunboats which form the only strength
of some of the small states.

The second question, relating to the size of the vessels, is important, as indicating the possibility of passing them in pairs, or even triplets, through the great locks of the canal and thereby saving valuable time; also it will assist the naval commander of the international fleet, in arranging his ability of maneuvers to meet heavy
weather conditions.

No less important is the third question, relating to the coal advancement of the vessels. The Navy Department must be advised of the maximum distance which each ship can make with full bunkers of coal, in order to plan
for fresh supplies at the proper point.
It is believed that if the navies represented comprise only modern large-sized ships it will be possible to make the run of 1,800 miles from Hampton Roads to Colon without stop. In the case of the smaller vessels, however,
a severe strain upon the small vessels
to make the run from Balboa to San Francisco, and some of them may be obliged to put in for coal at Pichilingue, the American coaling station in Lower California, or to take fuel from colliers in Magdalena
bay on the west coast of Mexico.
Some of the naval vessels of even the larger European powers are very dependent, according to American standards, in this matter of coal endurance, principally because they were designed for home defense and short cruises.

Because floating ice in Chesapeake bay sometimes makes it impossible for days at a time to take on coal and other supplies, and in order to guard against delay in the execution of the short and crowded program, the foreign naval vessels have been requested to assemble several days, at least,

in advance of the date of February 10
mentioned in the memorandum.
Their commanding officers with their staffs will be the guests of the United States government, as will be the special naval representatives invited to attend. The presence of the latter will relieve the diplomatic body in Washington from the obligation to be present at Hampton Roads, which is fortunate in view of the fact that they are expected to attend the opening ceremonies of the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco, now fixed for February 20 without possibility of postponement.

The foreign naval contingent will be brought to Washington on a passenger steamer especially chartered for the purpose, and their stay in the National capital will necessarily be very short as they must be in Hampton Roads again on the anniversary of Washington's birthday, when President Wilson will review the fleet
as it passes through the Chesapeake en route to Colon. The day after Congress adjourns the President will follow the fleet in one of the great dreadnaughts now under construction and expected to be complete about that time.

It is planned to divide the international fleet into four sections for the passage through the canal, and as
at least two of the average-sized warships can be accommodated in the time fleet could be looked through in about two days. The features of the parade through the canal will be the old battleship Oregon, on the bridge
of which will stand Admiral Clark,
who commanded the ship in her famous run round South America during the Spanish-American war; also Secretary Daniels and many other notables and the tiny launch Louisa;
one of the first boats to be employed by the French canal builders, and which has been, by act of Congress
made a gift to the French government to commemorate the completion of the canal.

Very soon the officials here will take up the arrangement of a program for the exercises which will take place at Balboa to commemorate the formal opening of the waterway, but so far no attempt has been made to outline them beyond the delivery of an appropriate address by President Wilson.

LARGE AUDIENCE EXPECTED

Interesting Features Planned for Lecture on Bishop Brent's Work.

The lecture to be given Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs, on the work of Bishop Brent in the Philippines, with particular attention to the part taken by Mrs. Lorillard Spencer of this city, will undoubtedly draw a large audience. Bishop Lloyd is coming from New York to preside at the meeting, while Deaconess Young will come from Boston Tuesday morning. She was associated with Mrs. Spencer and has lately come from the islands on account of illness.

Mr. Dean Worcester, recently American commissioner at Manila, is coming from New York with a number of special lantern slides made from photographs taken by him. One of the pictures will be that of Mrs. Barbour-Walker, formerly of the National Cathedral, who was in the Philippines, and later associated with Bishop Brent in his work at Manila. Mrs. Barbour-Walker has been invited to come to the new Berkeley School in this city, and is considering the offer.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE."

"The Great Divide," which the Malley-Denison Company is to present at the Opera House this week, is full of dramatic action, with a strong plot and stirring climaxes. It is a play which has been a favorite wherever presented in the larger cities and is given at popular prices for the first time by the local company. The various members have excellent roles and the play will be given an elaborate stage setting, which the management has made a considerable feature of the Opera House productions this year.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mrs. T. Taylor has gone to New York.

—Team yacht Sultana, Mrs. E. H. Harrison, and Captain, Mr. A. S. Cochran, have arrived.

—Dr. W. H. Offit, who has been confined to his home for a month by illness is now able to be up.

—The boys and girls eating ice cream cones seem to be right up to date today. I feel like ice cream.

—Lieutenant Colonel Don Nicholas Udeulla y Cerezo of the Spanish legation left for New York this afternoon.

—Harry E. Chase has sold for Margaret P. Sullivan the property at 17 Burnside avenue, to Elly and Dora Alderson.

—Admiral and Mrs. F. F. Fletcher arrived this afternoon and have gone to Jamestown to spend a short vacation at the Bay Voyage.

—Tom Mann was in this noon with eight barrels of fish and one small horse mackerel. That is about all the fishing news there is.

—Baron von Seidlitz, of the German legation, left for New York this afternoon, hoping to be able to cross the ocean and join the colors.

—Last week Mrs. Robert S. Gash was taken to the Newport Hospital with an attack of appendicitis and was operated on. She is improving as rapidly as could be expected.

—Officer Coggeshall Sunday found $64, face value, of checks on the street. He was like some of those stranded in Europe; there was no bank open to cash them. They were returned to the owner.

—Sweden has sent out a call to her citizens who are subject to service under the colors, and it is reported that some of those who reside in Newport have received orders to report. That any are going does not appear.

—Girls from Trinity parish are on their vacation at Pettaquamscutt, and farther down the river boys from Emmanuel under the leadership of the boys from St. John's, under the charge of Mr. MacNalty, are going into camp today.

—Miss Gertrude Chrystal and Miss Bertha Ryshtan, both of New York, where they have been at work on the lower East Side, arrived this morning and will be the principal speakers tonight at two meetings on Washington square and at the beach.

—Mr. J. I. Greene has received advice from both the English and Italian steamers lines that the running of steamers will be resumed. While the ocean travel has been at a practical standstill Mr. Green has been rather inactive, but he is looking pleased to day.

—The best fishing news received in some time comes from Jamestown. Little mackerel are reported biting at the yacht club pier and also at the ferry landing and Captain Tom Shea and Captain Walter Long both report catches of them at the Dumpings.

—Fred W. Greene sold Saturday for Thomas Lucas, a lot of land on Lucas avenue, containing 2880 square feet, to Timothy J. and Julia A. Brown, for $221. Mr. Greene has also sold for William M. Hughes of Portsmouth 3/4 acres of land of Braman's Lane to Anton Silva Raposa.

—Meredith Hare and Mrs. Newbold Morris of New York, Miss Rhoda Fullan of Annapolis, Miss Sibyl Robeson and Mrs. Louis Robeson of Brooklyn, Miss Frances Larned of Fall River, Eben Marsh of Providence and Baron Seidlitz registered at the Casino this morning.

—Mr. C. S. Plummer, Jr., of the Metropolitan Magazine of New York, and Miss Alice N. Shearer of Cambridge, Md., returned to New York Sunday night after a short visit to Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Plummer of this city. Mr. Lewis B. Plummer has gone to Compo, Conn., on his annual vacation, and is staying with his sister, Mrs. Marshall Corning.

—There is a more general display of flags today than on Saturday, some having remained up all the time. The mayor had the City Hall flag hoisted Saturday and it is still up. Others up today are the Aquidneck Bank, the Ruskier, Hatchet and Knights of Columbus Clubs, the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, and the New York Yacht Club.

—Mrs. David Prescott Hall (Forrester Howe Hall) of New York, and her son and daughter-in-law, and Mrs. Samuel Prescott Hall of Columbus, Ohio, have taken the Shipley stage on Washington street for the month of August. Y., and the last week in the camp at Pettaquamscutt. Physical Director and Mrs. P. H. Slocum and Mrs. C. F. Slocum of Bedford also returned Saturday evening from the camp.

OVER SIX HUNDRED IN PROCESSION

Beach Management Leaves Nothing Undone for Comfort of Them All.

Instructors Act as Life Guards in Addition to Other Duties—Playground Prizes.

Swarming round the beach as guests of the management, boys and girls of all ages from the playgrounds of the city were present in the largest number of children ever collected in a playground expedition for the purpose of a day's outing. Reports from the instructors show that 529 children, some of whom had never seen the beach, with others who had been bathing and reported to them this morning for the hike down, and it is estimated that on the way to least an additional 100 children were picked up, making a total of over 600 children from the playgrounds who were in the procession.

Young tots who could hardly walk hurried along with the older children, who ranged in ages from three to 16. In the record for attendance from the playgrounds the Little Mary Street group was first, with a big total of 94 children, while the more conspicuous Aquidneck Park was a close second, with 91. Morton Park, being too far away for the children, was low in attendance, and even it had a good-sized delegation, numbering 21. Playground Supervisors, with all the instructors, was in charge when the procession arrived at the beach, and immediately Manager McGowan began to make everything comfortable for the visitors. All the bath-houses in the east section were thrown open to the hundreds of youngsters who expressed an eager desire to enter the water, and soon afterward the "kids" began to tumble out. Every variety of bathing suit was shown, some of the boys in spick and span bathing suits, while others taught the spirit of the bathing and appeared "dolled up" in a summer shirt with an old pair of trousers, tied at the knees with ancient neckties which had outlived their usefulness. Every color, every design, every model of suit was shown by both the girls and the boys.

In passing it may be well to commend the action of the instructors, who came to the rescue of several eager youngsters who could not buy or borrow a suit of any sort, and who were wistfully watching their playmates in the water. In cases of this sort the instructors personally paid for bathing suits, that their children might not be disappointed in the general good time.

In every conceivable way did the beach management do everything for the comfort of all. Towels were supplied to all the hundreds of children, while on the sand tents were erected for the comfort of numerous mothers who had assembled to watch their children play. The life guard at the beach was doubled, so that all the youngsters might be looked after well while in the water, and in addition, all the instructors were there as prompt life savers, making a total of 20 looking out for the children.

All the children brought their lunches with them, and after eating races were held for a number of prizes given by Manager McGowan. That children from each of the grounds might secure prizes, the races were so arranged that each instructor held the contests himself. In every case the prizes were played, and in this way the number of prizes, which included Teddy bears and other things, were evenly distributed among the children of the city. The contests did not start until late in the afternoon, and following them the youngsters departed from the beach in groups, carefree and happy.

OWNER RESCUES THE CHIEF ENGINEER.

According to advices received, by wireless there was a watery rescue Sunday afternoon in the bay. Tug Vigilant was on her way from Providence with empty barges and everything was quiet and ship-shape when Chal McWilliams, owner of the line, who was taking a little pleasure tour, noticed that the tug had lost the chief engineer. Frank Carter, he knew Mr. Carter did not intend to desert the tug and that his being overboard was all a mistake, so he jumped over to the rescue. There is some talk about a Carnegie medal, but the crew of the tug is intact.

LARGE AUDIENCE EXPECTED

Interesting Features Planned for Lecture on Bishop Brent's Work.

The lecture to be given Tuesday afternoon at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Barton Jacobs, on the work of Bishop Brent in the Philippines, with particular attention to the part taken by Mrs. Lorillard Spencer of this city, will undoubtedly draw a large audience. Bishop Brent is coming from New York to reside at the meeting, while Deaconess Young will come from Boston Tuesday morning. She was associated with Mrs. Spencer and has lately come from the islands on account of illness.

Mr. Dean C. Worcester, recently American commissioner at the islands, is coming from New York, with a number of special lantern slides made from photographs taken by him. One of the pictures will be that of Mrs. Harbour-Walker, formerly of the National Cathedral School at Washington, and later associated with Bishop Brent in his work at Manila. Mrs. Harbour-Walker has been invited to come to the new Berkeley School in this city, and is considering the offer.

"THE GREAT DIVIDE."

"The Great Divide," which the Malley-Denison Company is to present at the Opera House this week, is full of dramatic action, with a strong plot, and stirring climaxes. It is a play which has been a favorite wherever presented in the larger cities and is given at popular prices for the first time by the local company. The various members have excellent roles and the play will be given an elaborate stage setting, which the management has made a considerable feature of the Opera House productions this year.

OVER SIX HUNDRED IN PROCESSION

Beach Management Leaves Nothing Undone for Comfort of Them All.

Swarming round the beach as guests of the management, boys and girls of all ages from the playgrounds of the city were present in the largest number of children ever collected in a playground expedition for the purpose of a day's outing. Reports from the instructors show that 529 children, some of whom had never seen the beach, with others who had never been in bathing, reported to them this morning for the hike down, and it is estimated that on the way to least an additional 100 children were picked up, making a total of over 600 children from the playgrounds who were in the procession.

Young tots who could hardly walk hurried along with the older children, who ranged in ages from three to 15. In the record for attendance from the playgrounds the little May Street group was first, with a big total of 94 children, while the more conspicuous Aquidneck Park was a close second, with 91. Morton Park, being far away for the children, was the lowest in attendance, and even it had a good-sized delegation, numbering 24. Playground Supervisor Kelley, with all the instructors, were in charge when the procession arrived at the beach, and immediately Manager McGowan began to make everything comfortable for the visitors. All the bath-houses in the east section were thrown open to the hundreds of youngsters who expressed an eager desire to enter the water, and soon afterward the "war" began to tumble out. Every variety of bathing suit was shown, some of the boys in spick and span bathing suits, while others taught the spirit of the bathing and appeared "dolled up" in a summer shirt with an old pair of trousers, tied at the knees with ancient neckties which had outlived their usefulness. Every color, every design, every model of suit was shown by both the girls and the boys.

In passing it may be well to comment the action of the instructors, who came to the rescue of several eager youngsters who could not buy or borrow a suit of any sort, and who were wistfully watching their playmates in the water. In cases of this sort the instructors personally paid for bathing suits, that their children might not be disappointed in the general good time.

In every conceivable way did the beach management do everything for the comfort of all. Flowers were supplied to all the hundreds of children, while on the sand tents were erected for the comfort of numerous mothers who had assembled to watch their children play. The life guard at the beach was doubled, so that all the youngsters might be looked after well while in the water, and, in addition, all the instructors were there as prompt life savers, making a total of 20 looking out for the children.

All the children brought their lunches with them, and after getting races were held for a number of prizes given by Manager McGowan. That children from each of the grounds might secure prizes, the races were so arranged that each instructor held the contests limited to boys and girls from his or her playground, and in this way the number of prizes, which included today bears and other things, were evenly distributed among the children of the city. The contests did not start until late in the afternoon, and following them the youngsters departed from the beach in groups, carefree and happy.

Muenchinger.

OWNER RESCUES THE CHIEF ENGINEER.

According to advice received by wireless there was a watery rescue Sunday afternoon in the bay. Tug Vigilant was on her way from Providence with empty barges and everything was quiet and ship-shape when Chas. McWilliams, owner of the line, who was taking a little pleasure tour, noticed that the tug had lost the chief engineer, Frank Carter. He knew Mr. Carter did not intend to desert the tug and that his being overboard was all a mistake, so he jumped over to the rescue. There is some talk about a Carnegie medal, but the crew of the tug is intact.

Special Sermons Bearing on the War—the State Grange Field Day.

[Revere correspondence of the News.]—The special summer service at 10 o'clock for the celebration of the Holy Eucharist, Rev. Latta Griggs would preach at 11 o'clock Sunday morning, at the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, a sermon entitled, "The Sword," bearing upon the European war. The texts were from Ezekiel XLII 1-14 and Matthew XXIII. In substance they would give one a understanding that the seeming prosperity and peace, which is apparently upon us, is but a thin veil over a world of suffering and death. As though the people had been building a wall with untempered mortar, this "wall" was constructed of greed, selfishness, personal advancement, and ambition, and the "untempered mortar" was the Christian spirit of brotherliness and love, which was absent.

An accumulation of growing evils precipitated this monstrous war, which is likely to mark the end of one era and the beginning of a new period. Its purgative and retributive effect may bring about the much longed for "day of perpetual peace," even though it must come by enormous sacrifice and loss. The preacher cited the conditions following each prominent war in history, all of which can be laid to the "greed of materialism."

Special prayers were offered for the world, and for the speedy adjustment of difficulties in Europe. Patriotic hymns were sung and prayers offered for that day at sea.

At the Sunday afternoon service at the Methodist Episcopal Church the pastor, Rev. Edward E. Wells, took as his text: "He that hath the Son hath life and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life." The sermon seemed in the nature of a continuation of the theme of Rev. Mr. Griggs at the Berkeley Chapel in the morning. During the service Mr. Karl M. Stone of New York, formerly of Newport, sang two solos, "Oh for a closer walk with God, Schnoecker, and Dudley Buck's 'Life on that better morning.'"

In the evening Rev. Mr. Wells gave the second in the August series on "Happiness"—"Happiness and Toil or Labor." The third topic will be "Happiness and Wealth." Mrs. Ida M. Brown and Mrs. John H. Peckham sang the duet, "The golden sunbeam fall," by Henry Leslie.

The state Grange field day at Kingston College Saturday was largely attended, about 600 being present. Newport County Pomona was well represented, the largest number coming from Little Compton, 43. Aquidneck Grange, Middletown, had a delegation of 12. The National Master, Oliver Wilson of Peoria, Ill., who was the most prominent speaker of the day, returned by automobile with Worthy State Master Joseph A. Peckham and family, where he is guest for a few days.

Mrs. Hattie A. Atty of Fall River, her son, Mr. Archibald Atty of Newport, her daughter, Mrs. Flora Peckham of Fall River, and Mr. and Mrs. James March, also of Fall River, were entertained at a clam bake Sunday by Miss Louise Mason Hart at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William W. Hart, on Wapping Road.

The subject of the new house shed at the Methodist Episcopal Church is being advertised in the News. The work will be begun as soon as the summer rush is somewhat over. Hopes had been entertained that operations could be started before the fall, but the men of the parish, who are to assist, have as yet been unable to leave their home work.

Mrs. Crawford Emerson entertained Sunday at her home at the two mile corner Miss Evelyn and William Warren, Elizabeth Allen, and Bessie Johnson of Newport and Miss Catherine Shea of Fall River.

Knowles' orchestra of three pieces has been engaged to play at the annual fair for the benefit of the Berkeley Memorial Chapel. Electrical effects for the outdoor tent will be arranged by Mr. Edward P. Lake, the organist.

Captain Proctor of the Massachusetts fisheries steamer effected the capture of the short ones and the man.

APPROPRIATIONS ARE SELDOM CUT.

Ranking Members of Committees Generally Obtain What They Desire.

Roosevelt's Baggage Must be Inspected—New Government Buildings Needed in Washington.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, August 8.—It is found that a committee handling an appropriation bill generally gets about what it wants. This is especially true of the ranking members of the different committees in both the Senate and the House, for they are pretty well agreed as to what they want.

Now they spent weeks in debating the Indian bill in both the House and the Senate, and when that bill was finally passed it was in shape and form as the leading members of the two committees wanted it. All the rest of the proposed amendments and the talk that accompanied them went for about as much use as a sham battle. Those people that are fighting for reforms in appropriation bills ought to understand that they are dealing with some pretty bright men.

A Republican who earnestly supported Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, but would not follow him out of the Republican party, is said to be somewhat unpopular with the colon because he has criticized George W. Perkins and some of the supporters of the former President. This was brought to his attention, and he replied: "Well, Roosevelt cannot come back into the Republican party without having his baggage inspected."

Senator Sutherland, who was at one time chairman of the committee on public buildings and grounds in the Senate, would be liberal in providing for public buildings in Washington and in creating parks and in other beautiful things. The government of the United States, he said, "could well afford to spend $100,000,000 on public buildings in Washington, and it ought to at once expend at least enough money to house all of the officials and employees of the government. A building for the archives and records ought to be constructed at once. Every government makes provision for the safety of its archives."

The Senator spoke after the discussion had turned upon the fact that not only are a number of rented buildings crowded, but there would be a tremendous catastrophe in case of fire and panic, and besides some of these buildings are considered unsafe.

The United States fish commission has again taken up the subject of increasing the output of fish in order to meet the high cost of living. Much has been done in the way of increasing the production of fish, but it appears that the supply cannot equal the demand. Possibly there will be some investigations this summer which will throw considerable light on the subject. The destruction of food fishes is something enormous, and particularly by the sharks which infest the waters which are not too cold.

Senator Reed of Missouri wants it understood in the most emphatic manner that he is a Democrat. Referring to a criticism in the newspapers that because he has opposed the President a number of times Reed was a former Republican, the Missouri Senator said: "It may be that I was at one time a Republican, but if so it must have been in some prehistoric age. I think it would be necessary to trace me back to the time when all life was limited to primordial protoplasm to discover the fact." He then went on to assert that he had not scratched the Democratic ticket from the time he cast his first vote.

Congressman Fess of Ohio wants Congress to assert itself and not be laughed at. He went on to tell that a friend said not long ago that little boy said in the gallery with his father and when the speaker rapped for order and the chaplain led in prayer the little boy said, "Papa, who do they pray for Congressmen?" and the father said, "They don't pray for Congressmen. The chaplain comes out and looks at the Congressmen, and then he prays for the country." The Ohio Congressman thought that as "body ought to assert itself so as to acquire more dignity."

Senator Clarke of Arkansas made a statement in reference to parliamentary law not long ago, and then, concluding that he had better build a bridge for himself, said: "Saving myself just that much of the way to be exercised hereafter in the event that I shall be confronted with the charge of inconsistency. I take the liberty of making the statement which I have just submitted." There were great many quizzical looks for a while, and the Senator went on to say that he had a way out in case of something turning up.

GUNS COMMAND THREE ROADS. Occupation of Liege Has No Influence on Strategic Situation.

LONDON, August 10.—Messages received today in official quarters in London from the Belgian staff assert that the occupation of Liege by Germans has not had the slightest influence on the strategic situation. It is declared that so long as the ring of forts around Liege remains intact, as it still is, the supreme command of the principal roads by which the German army can advance. This it is pointed out, makes it impossible for the Germans under the present circumstances to receive supplies or ammunition. Every line of railroad between Liege and the German frontier is alleged to have been destroyed, and the Belgian troops are said to have blown up every bridge, culvert and tunnel.

The Belgian general staff declares that the Germans expecting to take Liege in a few hours brought with them only food for a few days and little ammunition, their plan being to rush Liege and make it their base of operations.

The same authorities deny the German assertion of the capture of 4,000 Belgian prisoners, and add that not a single Belgian soldier remains in the town of Liege, as they are all quartered in the forts.

As far as can be learned by the Belgian general staff, some 120,000 German troops were engaged at Liege, and they are said to have been so weakened as to be unable to effectively attack the forts. On the other hand it is argued that it is not possible for the Germans to concentrate their force on the town of Liege itself.

The next development in the situation at Liege is expected to be the arrival of the Belgian main army, reported to be advancing rapidly from Louvain, in the northwest, to attack the German forces. The Belgian general staff says the Germans occupied Liege Friday night and entered the town, although the forts were not taken. The troops, headed by cavalry, approached the town along the main eastern roads, through charred forests, passing between the forts of Fleron and Devigne.

General Von Emmich summoned the principal hostages and imprisoned them as captives in a citadel in the center of the city to prevent the firing on the German gunners, who were entrenched in the public squares to overawe the inhabitants. The German troops have been billeted in the schools and public buildings, but not in private houses. General Von Emmich's order also has been ordered to pay for all purchases at the stores.

Most of the inhabitants remained in their cellars during Friday night, but came out Saturday upon finding that General Von Emmich was not permitting the evacuation of civilians of firing on German troops, and threatened to destroy the town if this was repeated.

Liege presents a strange picture today. Soldiers of opposing armies mingle freely in the streets. Piles of bodies awaiting identification lie under shrouds in the square. Among the unidentified bodies was that of a 12-year-old child, which lay beside that of an aged civilian. Some of the streets are filled with piles of clothing and food for the soldiers, many of whom were weak from hunger. The Times correspondent in Brussels, describing the fighting at Liege, says aerial fleets were used by both Belgians and Germans. The fighting in a huge Zeppelin saluted, but was deadly in the early fighting, but was pursued by a Belgian aeroplane pilot, who lost his life in destroying it. After the destruction of this Zeppelin, the Germans confined their aerial activity to the use of scouting aeroplanes, several of which were destroyed by shots from the forts. Efforts to reach the aeroplanes with shells were often unsuccessful, however, owing to the inability to shoot high enough.

Two Belgian aeroplanists, who were attacked by the German artillery at a moderate height, were nearly rendered unconscious by a shell which crashed beneath them, but which reached the ground safely.

GERMANS LOSE HEAVILY. French Arrive to Participate in Success of Belgian Division.

LONDON, August 10.—A telegram from Charleroi, Belgium, to the Daily Mail, dispatched Sunday night, says a force of French troops arrived in time to participate in a fine success over the German troops investing Liege. The correspondent adds: "The French succeeded in reaching the town of Liege and, working behind the Germans, cut off their retreat. The Germans are said to have lost 8,000 killed and wounded, while 1,700 of them were captured. I give the figures under reserve."

LEAVE WITH DIFFICULTY. Foreigners Witness An Agitation Against Emperor in Berlin.

PARIS, August 10.—A special to the Figaro from Brussels says that two foreigners who arrived from Berlin, which city they had left with some difficulty, declared that they had witnessed an agitation against the emperor in the German capital. They said that on the Unter den Linden boulevard, where they heard cries of "Down with the emperor," and "Down with the crown prince."

MISSIONARIES LEAVING. Merchantmen Driven to Japanese Ports by Fleet at Tsing-Tau.

TOKYO, August 10.—The German fleet at Tsing-Tau already has seized Russian steamer Kiazan, carrying British subjects, has driven 100 merchantmen to the refuge of Japanese waters and has embarrassed the entire Japanese shipping in the Orient. The press gives prominence to an alleged communication from America saying that the United States is sending a fleet to Asia to protect its interests. The report is considered baseless.

Forty missionaries, chiefly French, but some of them Germans, are leaving for their home countries to take their places in their armies.

GERMAN CAVALRY RETREATS. No Further Battle Near Liege or in the Town Itself.

BRUSSELS, August 10, via London, August 10.—Reports reached here from many directions today of the retreat of the German cavalry before the French forces, who are said already to have cleared considerable territory. The location of the fighting is not revealed by the military authorities. In official circles here it was asserted today that there had not been further battle in the vicinity of Liege or the town itself.

The Germans are proceeding into France chiefly through Esch, a town of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, 10 miles southwest of Luxembourg, where they have cut down trees and dug trenches. They have razed the village of Merl. Wooden platforms, 400 yards long, for the unloading of horses and guns, have been constructed.

No engagement between the allied armies and the German troops is expected to occur on Belgium soil until the French and English combined forces take the offensive. It is asserted that the German army of 200,000 men, near Poperinghe, in the province of Liege, had been fired on by three workmen, the village was given to pillage by the German troops, and the three workmen were shot.

ONE VIOLENT CLASH. Numerous Skirmishes Along Entire Front of French Army.

PARIS, August 10.—A statement issued by the War Department at a late hour last night says that numerous skirmishes are taking place along the entire front of the French army. One clash with the Germans was violent and the losses on both sides were serious. No pitched battle has taken place.

The official communication has taken the German troops are receiving reinforcements and the French also are being strengthened. A battle began Saturday evening on the ridges of the Vosges mountains. Aeroplanes took part in the engagement. The French troops, after a desperate encounter, obtained possession of the mountain passes of Bonhomme and Sainte Marie. They were resumed, and the fighting continued. The losses sustained by the French in the taking of Sainte Marie are not specifically given in the official report, which confines itself to declaring that the French were victorious. French and German soldiers were taken to the French fortress of Epinal for treatment.

A French aeroplane, which ascended during the engagement, was repeatedly fired at, the officer who was acting as observer of the movements of the Germans receiving a bullet in the hip. The pilot of the machine, however, brought him safely to the ground and he was able to return to Belfort, whither the aeroplane also was sent for repair.

The German troops inundated the valley of the Sambre by the means to stop the advance of the French, but the quantity of water was not sufficient and the French troops were able to continue their march. The French troops today were in face of the outskirts of the forest of Hardt, in front of Neu Breisch, which appears to be occupied in force.

DESCRIBED IN AFFIDAVIT. Shooting and Killing of Five Frenchmen in Germany.

PARIS, August 10.—How five young Frenchmen were shot and killed in Germany is graphically described in an affidavit of Jean Demolynes, a returned student, who declares furthermore that two Italians traveling in the same train met the same fate. The first Frenchman to be killed had shouted "Long live France," at Lorraine, a town of Baden, where he was waiting a train. According to the affidavit, he was arrested, placed against the wall of the station and shot.

Three other French youths who were among the small crowd detained at Lorraine by the Germans, protested at the killing and were told to shut their mouths. They were then led to the place where the first Frenchman was shot, a group of officers fired at them, and they fell. Women in the vicinity wept, the affidavit recites, knowing what had happened.

Another Frenchman who shouted "assassins" was likewise shot, the affidavit says, while the two Italians were killed on the road between Waldshut and Immeningen. One of them was killed in argument over the closing of a train window, and the other because he objected to a German sitting on him.

PLACE WHERE AUSTRIANS FELL. Servian Advance Posts Arrive Before Visegrad, Bosnia.

PARIS, August 10.—According to advices reaching here, the Servian advance posts have arrived before Visegrad, Bosnia, to which place the Austrian troops fell back when they retired from the Servian frontier, after losing two officers and 20 men killed.

TO BE INTERNED AT ALKMAAR. German Soldiers from Mecklenburg Arrive at Amsterdam.

AMSTERDAM, via London, August 10.—A group of 59 German soldiers from Mecklenburg, who were detained after taking refuge on Dutch territory, arrived here today. They are to be interned at Alkmaar until the end of the war.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE. Montenegrins Bombard Austrian Forts of San Teodo and Gattaro.

LONDON, August 10.—The Rome correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company says that, according to despatches from Vienna, that the Montenegrins yesterday bombarded the Austrian fortification of San Teodo and Gattaro without inflicting serious damage.

MISSIONARIES LEAVING. Merchantmen Driven to Japanese Ports by Fleet at Tsing-Tau.

TOKYO, August 10.—The German fleet at Tsing-Tau already has seized Russian steamer Kiazan, carrying British subjects, has driven 100 merchantmen to the refuge of Japanese waters and has embarrassed the entire Japanese shipping in the Orient. The press gives prominence to an alleged communication from America saying that the United States is sending a fleet to Asia to protect its interests. The report is considered baseless.

A PEACEFUL TRANSFER WITHIN SIXTY HOURS.

Carbajal to Give Federal Power to Governor Iribide.

Latter Will Then Turn Over Mexican Government to Obregon.

MEXICO CITY, August 10.—A high official of the Mexican government, who requested not to be quoted, stated today that the transfer of the federal power in Mexico from Provisional President Carbajal to the Constitutionalists would be made peacefully within the next 60 hours. The official added that President Carbajal would issue a proclamation late today to the inhabitants of the federal capital giving details of the government's plan for the transfer.

The plan includes the transfer of power from Francisco Carbajal to Eduardo Iribide, governor of the federal district. Governor Carbajal will go to Vera Cruz and Governor Iribide will turn over the government to General Obregon, now in Tula, with 25,000 men.

ATTACK ON MAZATLAN ORDERED. Constitutionals Advance to Earthworks on Edge of the City.

ON BOARD UNITED STATES SHIP CALIFORNIA, August 9, by wireless to San Diego, August 10.—A general attack on Mazatlan was ordered tonight by General Iribide, commander of the investing Constitutionalists. Already in possession of the outer line of defenses, the besieging forces advanced to the earthworks on the edge of the city. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting occurred in the trenches which, filled with dead, only partially buried, cover the approach to the city's main forts. Indians, aiding the insurgents, used their knives with sanguinary effect.

NOT ENLISTED WITH GERMANS. Young Van Dyke Helping His Father at The Hague.

THE HAGUE, August 10.—The American minister, Professor Henry Van Dyke, denies a report published in Berlin that his son has enlisted in the German army. Young Van Dyke is helping his father here.

DUE TO THE WAR. Price of Granulated Sugar in Wholesale Market Advanced.

NEW YORK, August 10.—The price of granulated sugar in the wholesale market was advanced to 5½ per pound today, making a gain of more than a cent a pound since the recent upward movement began. The advance was due principally to the war in Europe.

NO GERMAN SHIP SIGHTED. Russian Steamer and British Cable Craft Arrive at Halifax.

HALIFAX, Nova Scotia, August 10.—Russian steamer Dwinsk, from Liban, with passengers, arrived off the harbor late last night and anchored. British cable steamer Mackay Bennett also arrived from Queenstown. Neither steamer sighted any German cruiser. The Mackay-Bennett, after learning that war had been declared, extinguished most of her lights and came at full speed for this port.

TO MAKE EXTENSIVE TESTS. Engineer Barker Begins Work by Examining Water Company's Plats.

Engineer Charles R. Barker of the National Board of Fire Underwriters arrived today to spend a week in looking over the city and its water supply and to furnish information to the fire department reorganization committee. He began his work by calling on the water company, to examine its plats, and will then make extensive tests. Chief Engineer Booth says that he will be here Thursday, and thus the committee will begin the way of being advised by the representative of the power which condemns or approves a city's fire protection and upon whose advice insurance rates are sent up a little higher or cut down occasionally.

The telephone company has been at work changing the old style telephones, which have been in use on the island for up-to-date instruments. Little mackerel have struck in and some are being caught from the wharves on the east side of the island.

Mr. Elisha Watson of Providence spent Sunday with relatives on the island. Mr. and Mrs. William Carpenter, who have been visiting on the island, have returned to Providence.

PROBABLY THE TENNESSEE. Norwegian Bark Sights War Vessel Off Nantucket Twice.

NEW YORK, August 10.—Norwegian bark Ville De Ilespe, which arrived today from Shields, reports that she sighted Tuesday, August 4, a war vessel, with two funnels, off Nantucket. Her identity could not be made out. Friday August 7, she sighted a war vessel, apparently an American. This she probably was cruiser Tennessee en route to England with gold for Americans.

The Brazilian Steamship Company announced that its fleet of seven vessels had been withdrawn from the trading trade of South America, and until further notice would ply between Brazil and New York. The ships fly the Brazilian flag. Arrangements for chartering several other vessels flying neutral flags, such as the Norwegian, are being made. These vessels will sail on a regular schedule, carrying freight and passengers.

With but one or two exceptions, all the ships plying between South America and the United States are under either the German or British flags and consequently have been withdrawn. Steamship Bermuda due here today from Hamilton, Bermuda, has been ordered to remain in that port indefinitely according to an announcement from the British consul. The company by the Quebec Steamship Company. Six hundred Americans, said to have been stranded on the island, were expected on the ship.

IDEAL PLACE FOR SHOW. "Belcourt" Rapidly Being Put in Order for Midsummer Flower Exhibit.

Arrangements for the midsummer flower show to be given this week, beginning Thursday, under the auspices of the Newport Garden Club and the Newport Horticultural Society at "Belcourt," are progressing rapidly.

Mr. Belmont, who gave her place for the show, has afforded the committee opportunity to use not only the extensive grounds but the large carriage house and adjacent rooms, and the courtyard next to the house, and three pavilions will be utilized. The grounds, which are very handsome, have been given to the Garden Club by Mr. F. L. V. Hoppin, a New York architect, and the stars are being erected under his direction. Two large pavilions will be made of lattice work, with awnings tops and open at all sides, and smaller stands for smaller displays will be erected. Beds will also be laid out for bedding plants, and a number of many other novel features will be seen. A band stand has been erected at the east end of the grounds.

The cut flowers will be displayed in the large carriage house, which has been decorated by Landers with flags and Chinese lanterns. This place will afford larger room than the Horticultural Society has ever had for its floral exhibits. The adjoining room will probably be used for the table decorations, which have heretofore been crowded into the carriage house. In the courtyard will be large groups of foliage plants, which have always been a feature of the shows. Gladioli will have a prominent part, large specimens having already been brought for this flower show for exhibit and for competition, and there will be several large displays of dahlias. A number of special exhibits will be given by out-of-town gardeners and specialists. Among these will be the plants of Mrs. L. J. Naughton, of Rindge, N. H., Chinese lilies from R. and J. Farguhar and Co., of Boston; water lilies from Henry A. Dreer of Philadelphia; campanula, pyramidalis from the Bellefontaine Gardens of the Earl of Foster, Lenox; gladioli and dahlias from Clark W. Brown of Ashland, Mass.; gladioli from B. Hammond Tracy of Wenham, Mass., and John Lewis Childs of Flowerfield, N. J.; hardy heathers from Knight & Struck Company of Farmington, Conn.; and evergreens from the Wilcox Nurseries, Middletown.

KRONPRINZ WILHELM REPORTED CAPTURED.

would be forced into some neutral port for fuel. This account for her presence in San Juan. She will be permitted to remain not longer than 24 hours. She expects to encounter French or English cruisers off Port Rico, when she leaves San Juan.

Since the beginning of the war the Essex has been cruising between Bermuda and Halifax. She was at Halifax last Thursday as the convoy of the Mauretania. If the Narragansett's information is correct, the Essex must have run across the Kronprinz Wilhelm between Thursday night and Saturday morning. The fact and Saturday morning, it is said to have intercepted her as follows: "Bringing in Kronprinz Wilhelm as a prize."

The Kronprinz Wilhelm sailed from New York last Tuesday, heavily laden with coal, ostensibly for Bremen. It was reported, but not confirmed, that the ship intended to meet German cruiser Dresden at sea and replenish her coal supply.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm, named in honor of the present heir to the German throne, was built in 1901 at the Vulkan Works in Stettin, Germany. She is 21,300 tons displacement and has accommodations for 1,175 passengers and a crew of 552.

CHASED BY WAR VESSEL. Minnetonka's Captain Pursued East of Nantucket Lightship.

NEW YORK, August 10.—The captain of Atlantic transport liner, Minnetonka, in today from London, with 127 cabin passengers, reported that his ship had been chased by a war vessel from a point some distance west of Nantucket Lightship to nearly within sight of land. The Minnetonka flies the British flag.

When the pursuing warship, whose identity could not be made out, was sighted, the liner put on full speed. At nightfall, with the craft still following, all the lights on the liner were extinguished. By daylight the warship was out of sight.

Not far from the coast of the United States the Minnetonka was in communication with a British cruiser. Essex, which asked if any German cruisers had been sighted, in mid-ocean the Minnetonka was in communication with British cruiser Drake. Saturday the liner passed at a distance two American warships bound east. They were believed to have been the Tennessee and North Carolina.

Among the cabin passengers on the Minnetonka was Owen Wister, the novelist.

MAURETANIA ARRIVES. Course Changed Several Times on Warnings by the Essex.

NEW YORK, August 10.—A train carrying 133 passengers of the Cunard liner Mauretania, which put into Halifax, Thursday, while en route from Liverpool to New York, arrived here early today. ## SHIPS SAIL FOR CATTARO. Leave in That Direction After Bombarding Antivari.

BRANI, Italy, August 10, via London.—After the Austrian cruisers had bombarded Antivari, Montenegro, damaging the wireless station and electrical works they directed their fire to the adjacent hills, in which many Montenegrins from the town had sought refuge. These refugees returned the fire, whereupon the cruisers redoubled their attack upon the town and its suburbs, destroying many houses. One cruiser then entered the port and resumed the bombardment, destroyed the maritime station, and storeshouses, after which the warship sailed in the direction of Cattaro, Austria.

WOMEN'S WOES.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery. Read of a remedy for kidneys only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. M. E. Fitzgerald, 28 Elm street, Newport, says: "I suffered from pains in my back; they felt like rheumatic pains. I had read that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles and began using them. One box brought me great benefit."

GUNS COMMAND THREE ROADS. Occupation of Liege Has No Influence on Strategic Situation.

LONDON, August 10.—Messages received today in official quarters in London from the Belgian staff assert that the occupation of Liege by German troops has not had the slightest influence on the strategic situation. It is declared that so long as the ring of forts around Liege remains intact, as it still is, the guns command three of the principal roads by which the German army can advance. This, it is pointed out, makes it impossible for the Germans under the present circumstances to receive supplies or ammunition. Every line of railroad between Liege and the German frontier is alleged to have been destroyed, and the Belgian troops are said to have blown up every bridge, culvert and tunnel.

The Belgian general staff declares that it has received information that the Germans expecting to take Liege in a few hours brought with them only food for a few days and little ammunition, their plan being to rush Liege and make it their base of operations.

The same authorities deny the German assertion of the capture of 4,000 Belgian prisoners, and add that not a single Belgian soldier remains in the town of Liege, as they are all quartered in the forts.

As far as can be learned by the Belgian general staff, some 120,000 German troops were engaged at Liege, and they are said to have been so weakened as to be unable to effectively attack the forts. On the other hand it is argued that it is not possible for the forts to concentrate their fire on the town of Liege itself.

The next development in the situation at Liege is expected to be the arrival of the Belgian main army, reported to be advancing rapidly from Louvain, in the northwest, to attack the Germans occupying Liege.

A despatch from the Brussels Times in that city at noon yesterday says the Germans entered Liege Friday night and occupied the town, although the forts were not taken. The troops, headed by cavalry, approached the town along the main eastern roads through charred forests, passing between the forts of Fleron and Devigne.

General Von Emmich summoned the principal citizens and imprisoned them as hostages in a citadel in the center of the city, to prevent the forts firing on the German gunners, who were entrenched in the public squares to overawe the inhabitants. The German troops have been billeted in the schools and public buildings but not in private houses. General Von Emmich's men also have been ordered to pay for all purchases at the stores.

Most of the inhabitants remained in their cellars during Friday night, but came out Saturday upon finding that General Von Emmich was not permitting excesses. The general issued a proclamation accusing civilians of threatening on German troops, and threatening to destroy the town if this was repeated.

Liege presents a strange picture today. Soldiers of opposing armies mingle freely in the streets. Piles of bodies awaiting identification lie under the rubble in the square. The unidentified bodies were those of an old child which lay beside that of an aged civilian. Some of the streets are filled with army cooks, preparing soup for the soldier, many of whom were weak from hunger.

The Times correspondent in Brussels, describing the fighting at Liege, says aerial fleets were used by both Belgians and Germans in fighting in the air over the city, but that a huge Zeppelin sailed over Liege during the early fighting, but was pursued by a Belgian aeroplanist, who lost his life in destroying it. After the destruction of this Zeppelin, the Germans confined their aerial activity to the use of scouting aeroplanes, several of which were destroyed by shots from the forts. Efforts to reach the aeroplanes with shells were often unsuccessful, however, owing to the inability to shoot high enough.

Two Belgian aeroplanists, who were attacked by the German artillery at a moderate height, were nearly rendered unconscious by a shell which burst beneath them, but reached the ground safely.

GERMANS LOSE HEAVILY.

French Arrive to Participate in Success of Belgian Division.

LONDON, August 10.—A telegram from Charleroi, Belgium, to the Daily Mail, dispatched Sunday night, says a force of French troops arrived in time to participate in a line success of General Lemans' Belgian division over the German troops investing Liege. The correspondent adds: "The French succeeded in reaching the town of Liege and working behind the German lines, cutting off their retreat. The Germans are said to have lost 8,000 killed and wounded, while 17,000 were captured. I give the figures under reserve."

LEAVE WITH DIFFICULTY.

Foreigners Witness An Agitation Against Emperor in Berlin.

PARIS, August 10.—A special to the Figaro from Brussels says that two foreigners who arrived from Berlin, which city they had left with some difficulty, declared that they had witnessed an agitation against the emperor in the German capital. They said that on the Unter den Linden they heard cries of "Down with the crown prince" and "Down with the crown prince."

MISSIONARIES LEAVING.

Merchantmen Driven to Japanese Ports by Fleet at Tsing-Tau.

TOKYO, August 10.—The German fleet at Tsing-Tau already has seized Russian steamer Kinan, carrying British subjects, has driven 100 merchantmen to the refuge of Japanese ports, and has embarrassed the entire Japanese shipping in the Orient. The press gives prominence to an alleged communication from America saying that the United States is sending a fleet to Asia to protect its interests. This report is considered baseless.

GERMAN CAVALRY RETREATS.

No Further Battle Near Liege or in the Town Itself.

BRUSSELS, August 10, via London, August 10.—Reports reached here from many directions today of the retreat of the German cavalry before the large French forces who are said already to have cleared considerable territory. The locality of the fighting is not revealed by the military authorities. In official circles here it was further stated that there had not been further battle in the vicinity of Liege or the town itself.

The Germans are proceeding into France chiefly through Esch, a town of the Grand Duchy of Luxembourg, 10 miles southwest of Luxembourg, where they have cut down trees and dug trenches. They have razed the village of Merl. Wooden platforms, yards long, for the unloading of horses and guns, have been constructed.

No big engagement between the allied armies and the German troops is expected to occur on Belgian soil until the French and English combined forces take the offensive.

It is asserted here that after 200 German soldiers occupying a farm at Solre-le-Chateau, in the province of Liege, had been fired on by three workmen, the village was given over to pillage by the German troops and the three workmen were shot.

ONE VIOLENT CLASH.

Numerous Skirmishes Along Entire Front of French Army.

PARIS, August 10.—A statement issued by the War Department at a late hour last night says that numerous skirmishes are taking place along the entire front of the French army. One clash with the Germans was violent and the losses on both sides were serious. No pitched battle has taken place.

The official communication adds that the German troops are receiving reinforcements and the French also are being strengthened.

A battle began Saturday evening on the ridges of the Vosges mountains. The French troops, after a desperate encounter, obtained possession of the main ridge of Bouchemin and Sainte Marie. Then Sunday morning, when the fighting was resumed, they took a position dominating Sainte Marie-aux-Mines.

The losses sustained by the French in the taking of Sainte Marie are not specifically given in the official report, which content itself with declaring that they were serious. The wounded French and German soldiers were taken to the French fortress of Epinal for treatment.

A French aeroplane, which ascended during the engagement, was reported to be fired on by the other who was acting as observer of the movements of the Germans receiving a bullet in the hip. The pilot of the machine, however, brought him safely to the ground and he was able to return to Belfort, whither the aeroplane also was sent for repair.

The German troops inundated the valley of the Sambre by this means to stop the advance of the French, but the quantity of water was not sufficient and the French troops were able to continue their march.

The French troops today were in face of the outskirts of the forest of Avesnes, in front of Neu-Breisch, which appears to be occupied in force.

DESCRIBED IN AFFIDAVIT. Shooting and Killing of Five Frenchmen in Germany.

PARIS, August 10.—How five young Frenchmen were shot and killed in Germany is graphically described in an affidavit of Jean Demombaynes, a returned student, who declares furthermore that two Italians traveling in the same train met the same fate. The first Frenchman to be killed had shouldered a rifle, and was shot at Lorraine, a town of Baden, where he was awaiting a train. According to the affidavit, he was arrested, placed against the wall of the station and shot.

Three other French youths who were among the small crowd detained at Lorraine by the Germans, protested at the killing but were told to shut their mouths. They were then led to the place where the first Frenchman was shot, a group of officers fired at them, and they fell. Women in the vicinity wept, the affidavit recites, knowing what had happened.

Another Frenchman who shouted "Assassins" was likewise shot, the affidavit says, while the two Italians were killed on the road between Wald, shut and unimpaired. One of them was killed in argument over the closing of a train window, and the other because he objected to a German sitting on him.

ATTACK ON MAZATLAN ORDERED. Constitutionalists Advance to Earthworks on Edge of the City.

ON BOARD, UNITED STATES SLEP, CALIFORNIA, August 9, by wireless to San Diego, August 10.—A general attack on Mazatlan was ordered tonight by General Iturbide, commander of the investing Constitutionalists. Already in possession of the outer line of defense, the investing forces advanced to the earthworks on the edge of the city. Fierce hand-to-hand fighting occurred in the trenches which, filled with dead, only partially buried, covered the approach to the city's main fort. Indians, aiding the insurgents, used their knives with sanguinary effect.

Federal gunboat Guerrero aided the garrison by shelling the positions of the besiegers.

NEW YORK, August 10.—The price of granulated sugar in the wholesale market was advanced to 6 1/2¢ per pound today, making a gain of more than a cent a pound since the recent upward movement began. This advance was due principally to the war in Europe.

Barker of the National Board of Fire Underwriters arrived today to spend a week in looking over the city and its water supply and to furnish information to the fire department re-organization committee. Chief Engineer Booth sends word that he will be here Thursday, and thus the committee will begin the way of being advised by the representative of the power which contains or approves a city's fire protection and upon whose advice insurance rates are set up a little higher or cut down occasionally.

PROBABLY THE TENNESSEE.

Norwegian Bark Sights War Vessel Off Nantucket Twice.

NEW YORK, August 10.—Norwegian bark Viljo De Dieppe, which arrived today from St. Louis, reports that she sighted Tuesday, August 7, a war vessel, with two funnels, off Nantucket. Her identity could not be made out, she said August 7, she sighted a war vessel, apparently an American, steaming east. This probably was the Tennessee en route to England with gold for Americans.

The Brazilian Steamship Company announced that its fleet of seven vessels had been withdrawn from the coasting trade of South America, and will further notice would be given by the Brazilian flag. Arrangements for chartering several other vessels flying neutral flags, such as the Norwegian, are being made. These vessels will also run between America and New York on regular schedule, carrying freight and passengers.

With but one or two exceptions, all the ships plying between South America and the United States are under either the German or British flag, and consequently have been withdrawn. Steamship Meridian due here today from Hamilton, Bermuda, has been ordered to remain in that port indefinitely, according to an announcement by the Quebec Steamship Company. Six hundred Americans, said to have been stranded on the island, were expected on the ship.

IDEAL PLACE FOR SHOW. "Belcourt" Rapidly Being Put in Order for Midsummer Flower Exhibit.

Arrangements for the mid-summer flower show to be given this week, beginning Thursday, under the auspices of the Newport Garden Club and the Newport Horticultural Society at Belcourt, are progressing rapidly. Mrs. Belmont, who gave her place for the show, has afforded the committee opportunity to use not only the extensive grounds but the large carriage house and adjoining rooms and the courtyard next to the house, and these places will be utilized.

The grounds, which are owned by Randolph S. Belmont, are a beautiful place for an outdoor exhibition, and have been laid out by Mr. E. L. V. Hopkin, a New York architect, and the stands are being erected under his direction. Two large pavilions will be made of lattice work, with awnings and for smaller displays will be erected. Beds will also be laid out for flowers entered in competition and many other novel features will be seen. A band stand has been erected at the east end of the grounds.

The cut flowers will be displayed in the large carriage house, which has been decorated by banders with flags and Chinese lanterns. This place will afford larger room than the Horticultural Society has ever had for its floral exhibits. The adjoining room will probably be used for the table decorations, which have heretofore been too crowded to give an adequate display. In the courtyard will be large groups of foliage plants, which have always been a feature of the shows. Gladioli will have a prominent part, large specimens having already been engaged for this flower, both for exhibit and for competition, and there will be several large displays of dahlias. The number of floral exhibits will be given by cut-of-town gardeners and specialists. Among these will be orchids from Paul de Nave of Fall River and Julius Reelers of Rutherford, N. J., Chinese lilies from R. and J. Farquhar and Co. of Boston; water lilies from Henry C. Dyer of Philadelphia; campanulas, pyramidalis from the Bellocaine Gardens of Girard Post, Lenox; gladioli and dahlias from Clark W. Brown of Hammond, Mass.; gladioli from B. Hammond Tracy of Wrentham, Mass., and John Lewis Childs of Flowerfield, N. J.; hardy heather from Knight & Co. of New York; and Long Island and evergreens from the Wilson Nurseries, Middletown.

would be forced into some neutral port for fuel. This may account for her presence in San Juan. She will be permitted to remain, not longer than 24 hours. She expects to encounter French or English cruisers off Port Rico, when she leaves San Juan. The beginning of the war the Essex has been cruising between Bermuda and Halifax. She was at Halifax last Thursday, as the convoy of the Mauretania. If the Narragansett's information is correct, the Essex must have run across the Kronprinz Wilhelm between Thursday night and Saturday morning. The message which the Narragansett is said to have intercepted read as follows: "Bringing in Kronprinz Wilhelm as a prize."

The Kronprinz Wilhelm sailed from New York last Tuesday, heavily laden with coal, ostensibly for Bremen. It was reported, but not confirmed, that the ship intended to meet German cruiser Dresden at sea and replenish her coal supply.

CHASED BY WAR VESSEL. Minnetonka's Captain Pursued East of Nantucket Lightship.

NEW YORK, August 10.—The captain of Atlantic transport liner Minnetonka, in today from London, with 127 cabin passengers, reported that his ship had been chased by a war vessel from a point some distance east of Nantucket Lightship to nearly within sight of land. The Minnetonka flies the British flag.

When the pursuing warship, whose identity could not be made out, was sighted the liner put on full speed. At nightfall, with the craft still following, all the lights on the liner were extinguished. By daylight the warship was out of sight.

Not far from the coast of the United States the Minnetonka was in communication with the British liner Essex, which asked if any German cruisers had been sighted. In mid-ocean the Minnetonka was in communication with British cruiser Drake. Saturday the liner passed at a distance two American warships bound east. They were believed to have been the Tennessee and North Carolina.

Among the cabin passengers on the Minnetonka was Owen Winter, the novelist.

SHIPS SAIL FOR CATTARO. Leave in That Direction After Bombarding Antivari.

BAR, Italy, August 10, via London.—After the Austrian cruisers had bombarded Antivari, Montenegro, damaging the wireless station and electrical works they directed their fire to the adjacent hills, in which many Montenegrins from the town had sought refuge. These refugees returned the fire, whereupon the cruisers redoubled their attack upon their town and its suburbs, destroying many houses. One cruiser then entered the port and bombarded the harborment, destroyed the maritime station and storehouses, after which the warships sailed in the direction of Cattaro, Austria.

It is probable that the French army is less properly equipped and organized than the German, but all recent outside critics seem to credit the individual soldiers with higher tactical capacity. Many hold it to be a less trained, but more efficient organization. No one doubts it will give a good account of itself.

EUROPE, THE SCENE OF THE WAR.

This map, prepared especially for the present situation, shows many of the places which will be found in the telegraphic reports from day to day, yet new and then a little place may spring into sudden fame which is now so inconspicuous that it would only be found on a map of that special locality. This map may well be preserved, as it is likely to be needed for reference in the weeks to come.

HEART GOES ALL THE TIME.

The American Goldfinch Sings Whether in Gold or in Dull Dress.

(Chicago Post.)
A good many years ago the old Duke of Argyll came to America and straightway was taken to Niagara Falls to gaze on the glories of cataract and rapids. It is said that he was at a point of vantage just below the thundering downfall. They turned to him to get sight of his first expression of awe and rapture, and found that he had his back to the falls and was looking wonder-eyed at an American goldfinch pulling seeds from a thistle.

With his mate in July the goldfinch is housekeeping and is doing his share of the work of keeping hungry children fed. For 11 months he leads a free life, singing every other minute and getting all the joy there is handy.

When the Duke of Argyll had looked on the goldfinch he said: "It is, in truth, a gold finch." Five birds have such slightly differing notes. The scarlet tanager cannot boast himself above the goldfinch in point of raiment. Even the golden plover is envious when the goldfinch weaves his over-head. This July bird, when he is flying, swings like a pendulum in the sky. He has a waving flight across the fields, and he sings all the way.

In late September country folk who have known the goldfinch through the summer miss him and ask where he has gone. He hasn't gone anywhere. He is still with them, but they don't know him. He drops his gold-and-black feathers and puts on a subdued coat, shaded to be in keeping with the melancholy days. But in due time he will sing again; he has a heart that goes all the time.

TO LAST TWO DAYS.

Red Cross Entertainment Will Include Sales from Booths, and Tableaux.

A second meeting preliminary to the entertainments proposed by prominent women among the summer residents, in behalf of the Red Cross Society, was held Saturday afternoon at "Brithesga," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont. A temporary executive committee, consisting of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Miss Edith Wetmore and Mrs. August Belmont was appointed and upon it will probably fall the work of organizing the fête. It is possible that two evenings will be given up to the entertainment, probably during the tennis tournament.

After the meeting Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont said: "An international war relief fund is being organized by the men and women of Newport in response to the appeal from the Red Cross Society. This Newport committee hopes to raise money by means of an entertainment augmented by voluntary subscriptions. The proceeds will be sent to the Red Cross headquarters in Washington. At a meeting held at the house of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish a temporary committee was appointed. Local headquarters have been opened at the office of Messrs. DeBois & Eldredge, Bellevue avenue, where subscriptions of any size may be sent to Mr. Lawrence L. Gillespie, treasurer."

Further plans for the entertainment were made Sunday. Mr. Howard G. Cushing was selected to arrange the tableaux and will have the assistance of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Miss Edith Wetmore. It has been decided to have booths on the lawn at "The Breakers" for the sale of flowers and other articles. Mrs. Arthur Curtiss James will sell flowers. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish will have an animal booth, and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, Mrs. George D. Widener and Mrs. J. Francis A. Clarke have agreed to conduct other booths. This will furnish the afternoon entertainment, and the tableaux will be given in the evening. In the drawing room, the entertainment to last two days.

It is proposed to form a citizens' committee to work with the summer residents, and to charge only a small admission to the grounds, so that everybody can attend and contribute to the fund. Mr. Lawrence L. Gillespie, treasurer of the committee, says: "I want to emphasize the fact that all contributions, no matter how small, will be welcomed, and I am sure that Newport will add a handsome sum to the international war benefit fund of the Red Cross." Already several contributions have been received.

Sunday will go down as a very hot day. It was not so bad by the thermometer, 76 at noon and dropping by 2 p. m. under a cooling breeze, but general humidity was very much in evidence. There was a heavy fog Saturday night, and it was still in evidence Sunday morning, but while the air seemed to clear it was still saturated with moisture.

Today is not quite so hot, but the general humidity is here still. It looked clear early this morning, but only for a time; then the fog came in again.

Italy Uninformed of Plans, and Thus Escapes Obligations of Triple Alliance.

[New York Tribune.]

The collapse of German diplomacy in the last two weeks has been amazing. German policy for 20 or 30 years back has been built on the foundation stone of the Triple Alliance. But in the first great European crisis the Triple Alliance has crumbled. One partner—Italy—has dropped out of it, and the Kaiser and Bethmann-Hollweg have been placed in the humiliating position of having first to plead with, and then vainly to threaten, a power which they had counted upon in a certain ally.

Italy escaped the obligations of the Triple Alliance through glaring faults of the Italian foreign office. The Italian government says that it was never informed of Austria-Hungary's plans for disciplining Serbia. That is not surprising, since Italy and Austria-Hungary have antagonistic interests in the Balkan territory, and Vienna could not have expected a hearty approval in Rome of its aggressive Serbian policy.

Austria-Hungary evidently worked out the details of its demand on Serbia with great secrecy. Berlin newspapers just received say that the German government admitted having simply a general knowledge of the Serbian note, receiving its text only at the last moment. In allowing Austria-Hungary, which has all along accepted guidance from Berlin, to rush ahead into a perilous position without notice to Italy and with inadequate notice to itself was a diplomatic blunder of the first rank on the part of the German government. It left open to Italy a way of escape from the obligations of the Triple Alliance—obligations of which the Italian people had become very impatient in view of the many acute conflicts of interest between them and the people of Austria-Hungary.

TO LAST TWO DAYS.
Red Cross Entertainment Will Include Sales from Booths, and Tableaux.

A second meeting preliminary to the entertainments proposed by prominent women among the summer residents, in behalf of the Red Cross Society, was held Saturday afternoon at "Hythe," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont. A temporary executive committee, consisting of Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Arthur Currier, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Miss Edith Wetmore and Mrs. August Belmont was appointed and upon it will probably fall the work of organizing the fête. It is possible that two days will be given up to the entertainment, probably during the tennis tournament.

After the meeting Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont said: "An international war relief fund is being organized by the men and women of the world in response to the appeal from the Red Cross Society. This Newport committee hopes to raise money by means of an entertainment augmented by voluntary subscriptions. The proceeds will be sent to the Red Cross headquarters in Washington. At a meeting held at the house of Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish a temporary committee was appointed. Local headquarters have been opened at the office of Messrs. DeBlois & Eldredge, Bellevue avenue, where subscriptions of any size may be sent to Mr. Lawrence L. Gillespie, treasurer."

Further plans for the entertainment were made Sunday. Mr. Howard G. Cushing was selected to arrange the tableaux and will have the assistance of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Miss Edith Wetmore. It has been decided to have booths on the lawn at "Hythe" and to charge one dollar for flowers and other articles. Mrs. Arthur Currier Jones will sell flowers. Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish will have an animal booth and Mrs. Pembroke Jones, Mrs. George D. Widener and Mrs. J. Francis A. Clarke have agreed to conduct other booths. This will furnish the afternoon entertainment, and the tableaux will be given in the evening. In the drawing room, the entertainment to last two days.

It is proposed to form a citizens' committee to work with the summer residents, and to charge one dollar admission to the grounds, so that everybody can attend and contribute to the fund. Mr. Lawrence L. Gillespie, treasurer of the committee, says: "I want to emphasize the fact that all contributions, no matter how small, will be welcomed and I am sure that Newport will add a handsome sum to the international war relief fund of the Red Cross." Already several contributions have been received.

HOT AND HUMID.
Sunday will go down as a very hot day. It was not so bad by the thermometer, 76 at noon and dropping by 2 p. m. under a cooling breeze, but general humidity was very much in evidence. There was a heavy fog Saturday night and it was still in evidence Sunday morning, but while the fog seemed to clear it was still saturated with moisture.

Today is not quite so hot, but the general humidity is here still. It looked clear early this morning, but only for a time; then the fog came in again.

JUST INSIDE HELL GATE.

Destroyer Ammen Guarding
the Approach to Long Island Sound.

Saturday night a call for the crew of destroyer Ammen was made in the local theatres. The men were ordered to report on board ship at once, and later in the evening the last destroyer left here put out into the fog and to sea. There was much speculation as to the destination of the vessel on orders
which required such a hurried calling together of the crew. Officially it was given out that she was going to New York, but from other sources
there was a suggestion that she was called to Assistant Secretary Roosevelt's home on Long Island.

Sunday the little vessel arrived off
Execution rock, just inside Hell Gate,
N. Y., and took station, her purpose being to guard the approach to Long Island sound, as the Florida and Drayton are guarding the main approach to the sea against the sailing of craft
with supplies to the warships off the coast.

It is reported that Saturday night
the Florida fired at a merchantman
which was seemingly trying to sneak out through the Narrows with all lights out, and that the Drayton put after her, firing once or twice and stopping her. The ship was forced to return to the Florida's anchorage,
where an examination was made and she was allowed to proceed, but this time with lights burning.

POLICE COURT BUSINESS.

Mutual Assault Case and Stealing Chowder Kettle Prominent.

The police had business Sunday.
There was a mutual assault case, in which Tony Andrews said he had been hit with a bottle and James Gomes Rogers claimed to have been bitten
on the hand. As a result Tony paid $12.50 and James $17.50.

There was something more serious than this, however. A man was charged with stealing the celebrated chowder kettle in which Dexter Burkinshaw has made so many good chow-ders. This was taken from his summer place and the loss would have been almost irreparable, but fortunately suspect Robin recovered the kettle.
The culprit was fined $15 and costs,
and as he had it he went up to work it out.

A man for profane swearing paid
$7.50 and two for drunkenness paid
$4.50 each into the treasury.

Twenty-five were heard from in the district court proceedings, four prisoners, each charged with using profane language, being brought in.
All pleaded guilty, two paid $11.20 and
two did not have the money.

This morning there was just one case and that of the recent Fort guest trouble on Kerry Hill. A man was fined $30 and costs for assault,
and this may be the last heard of this case.

Officer Oxx found two stray horses
on West Broadway and he turned them over to the pound keeper. This means that it is expensive to allow horses to roam at large in the public streets.

Officer Sweeney Sunday hoped to be out Wednesday, but those who saw the condition of his legs were of the opinion that it will be long after Wednesday before he will be able to use it effectively.

THE SUNDAY WAR NEWS SER- VICE.

The Daily News had its Associated Press wire in operation throughout Sunday and the war news was given to the public both in bulletins and on the telephone. Both ways of providing the service seemed popular, for there were many reading the bulletins
almost all the time and the telephone were busy throughout the day. To those at the office it was naturally not a very satisfactory day, as they could not give out much which seemed to be definite. The receipt of despatches which denied previous ones was too frequently the case.

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOR- OUGH'S PLANS.

The Duchess of Marlborough, upon sailing on the St. Paul, expressed her delight at being able to go back to her children in London. She said she was anxious to do something for the British soldiers and sailors who are engaged in the European war. She thought she would most likely organize a nursing corps as soon as she reached London, and would lend all the aid, both personal and financial,
within her power.

THE BRITISH WAR RELIEF FUND.

The fund for relief of the poor in England during the war reached the sum of $1,125,000 in the first 24 hours. Among those who contributed were George Coates, the manufacturer, $10,000; Lord Ashton $15,000; the Russhilds $10,000; the Kers $10,000;
Ernest Cassel and Sir William Harcourt $25,000; and dozens of other persons $5,000, including Alfred Gwynne Vandergilt.
Mr. and Mrs. Waldorf Astor have also given $10,000, their beautiful home in the Thames, for the use of stranded Americans in London.

A CROWD AT THE BEACH.

It takes a great many people to crowd this place, even though so much of the space has been given over during the past three years to buildings. Yet the above picture shows that real crowds do actually gather there, even if in the majority of photographs, taken when there are said to be large crowds, there seem to be great vacant spaces.

DEATH'S HEAVY TOLL.

Colonel John Schuyler Crosby, Distinguished
as Soldier and Citizen.

Mrs. William Binney, Widely Known;
Mrs. Sarah A. Goffe and Raymond J. Seligman.

Colonel John Schuyler Crosby, a distinguished soldier of the Civil war,
a descendant of two noted American families; former governor of Montana
and first assistant postmaster general
of the United States, died Saturday afternoon at the Newport Hospital,
where he had been since Tuesday, suffering from heart disease. He married Harriet Van Rensselaer, daughter of the last patron of Albany, N. Y., who died three years ago. He was in his seventy-sixth year.

The deceased, who made his home
at the Union Club, New York, had been cruising for several weeks with Mr. Lloyd Phoenix on board the latter's auxiliary schooner Intrepid.
They arrived here last Monday night
and on the following day Colonel Crosby became so ill that Mr. Phoenix and his old friend, Mr. E. Rollins Morse, accompanied him to the hospital. His son, Mr. Stephen Van Rensselaer Crosby, was called from Boston and arrived after his father's death. The body will be taken to Albany for interment.

He was born in Albany in 1829.
During the Civil war he served with distinction and was appointed colonel of the Seventh New York heavy artillery. He was consul to Florence, Italy, in 1876; governor of Montana
from 1881 to 1884, while it was a territory; first assistant postmaster general of the United States from 1884
to 1886; and school commissioner of
New York city from 1889 to 1892.
During the Civil war he won repeated promotion for bravery, and continued his record under Sheridan and Custer in the Indian wars. President Lincoln once personally thanked him
for carrying despatches to the front.
While in Italy he captured a band of criminals in Tuscany, and received a decoration from the King. In June, 1912, he was awarded a gold medal by the American Cross of Honor Society
for saving the life of Miss Edith May,
who was on board yacht Mohawk,
which sank in New York harbor in 1876.

While bedridden from illness in January of 1913, Colonel Crosby's giant Japanese valet, Iwamoto, suddenly went insane and attacked the sick man with a dagger. Colonel Crosby jumped from bed and, snatching up
the valet, subdued him before the police arrived. He was then in his seventy-fifth year and the encounter
was a severe shock to the sick man.

Colonel Crosby was a great-grandson of William Floyd, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a lineal descendant.

Mrs. Josephine Angier, widow of William Binney, one of the oldest of the summer residents of Newport,
died Sunday at her residence on Catharine street, of diseases incident to old age. She had been coming here for 30 years and was widely known among the older summer and permanent residents. She was a regular attendant at the Channing Memorial Chapel and contributed generously to its funds.

Mrs. Binney was a daughter of Rev.
Joseph and Elizabeth Ruten Angier of Milton, Mass., and married Mr. William Binney of Providence in 1849; he died five years ago. She had three children: Mrs. Samuel Powell and William Binney of Providence and Mr. Horace Binney, now residing in France, being step-children.

Mrs. Sarah A. Goffe, widow of Augustus Goffe, died late Saturday afternoon at her residence on Broadway
at Rhode Island avenue after an illness incident to old age. She observed her eighty-third birthday the day before her death, being the last of a large family of children who included Messrs. Jacob, Thomas, Perry, William and Benjamin Weston, Mr.
John Stanhope and Mrs. Walter Caszens. Her husband, who died 14 years ago, was for many years one of the leading merchants in Newport.
She was 81 in the August 1875 census.
She is survived by four children—Mr.

COTS FOR FIRST TIME.

Record-Breaking Attendance
at the Army and Navy
Y. M. C. A.

A record-breaking attendance was recorded at the Army and Navy
Young Men's Christian Association
Saturday and Sunday. On both nights
every room was taken, and Saturday night about 50 cots were put out for the first time this year. This increase of business was due to the recent arrival of the Tonopah, Panther, Dixie
and the destroyers.

Saturday the regular peanut social was held, Mr. Edward W. Tole officiating at the piano. Under the influence of the Old Fall River Line,
etc., many of the sailors were found guilty of "ragging." Under the circumstances, they were officially pardoned, and after a travelogue showing scenes in the Salt Lake valley peanuts constituted a happy conclusion.

Sunday morning the service at the Naval Training Station was conducted by Mr. F. A. Sharwell, who spoke in the evening a party attended the evening service in one of the near-by churches.

FAD REACHES FREEBODY.

Terpsichorean Interest Centres
There This Week—Other Attractions.

The dancing fad has reached Free-body Park, which will be a centre of terpsichorean interest this week, the management having secured Fordon
and Sims to appear every afternoon and evening in stage delineations of latest society dances. They will introduce different dances each evening,
including "La Bijou" and "Consuela"
which both entering new to Newport.
The latter being their own conception, and named by permission after the Duchess of Marlborough. In addition,
Mr. Fordon and Miss Sims will offer a prize of $25 in gold in a contest of Newport dancers for the championship of the city, in which many skilled and popular young people will participate, events taking place each evening.

This week's vaudeville at the Park
includes the Seven Castelluccas, a talented musical family; the Delphes Troupe of men and women aerial gymnasts; Orletta and Taylor, singing duets; the Lees, European eccentrics, and Mattie Wilson, character vocalist.

REPORTS OF FIRING.

Reports continue to come from along shore of the firing of big guns.
From Warren's point, Little Compton,
is heard a story of firing Friday night
at 10:30 violent enough to shake the houses and rattle the doors. There was nothing in the firing line here
which would cause any such report.
There have been times when there has been firing, but nothing of late other places make similar reports. It does not seem possible that all can be the results of imagination, and yet little other reason can be thought of.

CLAM BAKE CLUB ELECTION.

At the annual meeting of the Newport Clam Bake Club, Saturday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—William R. Hunter.
Secretary—George I. Scott.
Treasurer—Henry H. Ward.
Executive Committee—Reginald C.
Vanderbilt, George D. Wilcox, Jr.,
Dr. Harry J. Knapp, William Grosvenor.
Mr. Frederick H. Paine, who had been secretary of the club for several years, declined a re-election and Mr. Scott was chosen in his place.

SAIL, BASE BALL AND DINNER.

A number of members of the Daughters of Isabella and their friends, who constantly what is known as "The Trojan" and a sailing party, were on the water Sunday, going north to Providence. Dinner was served while in port was off Conanicut Park, the sail putting an end to a game and game between teams appointed by Miss Annie Erie and Miss Mary McKean, and composed respectively of women and men.
The game was not finished, as the players were not in a mood for base ball after the bountiful dinner.

EASIEST KIND OF PICKING.

Up Stiff Fight Expected.

Newports Win Nip-and-Tuck Battle
from Attleboro's Training Station Defeats Warren.

The Woonsocket Independents, one of whom was a member of the Woonsocket Colonial League team, were the easiest kind of picking for the Trojans Sunday afternoon at Wellington park, the latter winning 9-2. When once the locals started the little opposition the visitors put up was soon swept away, the Trojans clearing the decks with 12 safe swishes. The upstate team made but five hits off Sheehan, who was invincible after the first innings. Woonsocket did not put up the stiff battle expected, and early in the contest were seen not to be in the Trojans' class at all.

Johnny Murphy was the leading hitter, making three singles and four tries, besides scoring three runs and stealing two bases. The Brown man from New Bedford was a veritable scream on the bases, his speed enabling him to beat out his first infield tap
across the plate, and he was the next man with the club making three outries in five trips to the rubber while Martia Smith and Sheehan made two each.

Woonsocket showed a flash in the opening inning, Williams led off with a single and went around to third on Harris' hit, but he was out at first.
On Lennox's tap in front of the plate
Williams was run down between third and home on Campbell's grounder to Sheehan. Pelouquin, who was almost the whole Woonsocket team, smashed
the ball of Sheehan's first ones for a clean double, scoring Lennox and Campbell. Snyder struck out, and Martin ended the inning when he made a remarkable catch off H. Murray, coming in on the dead run and catching the ball with a dive forward.

Sheehan sent in the first Trojan run
after Smith had singled and stolen second. After the fifth inning, in which the Trojans made three outries, game was all theirs, four more in the sixth blanketing whatever hopes Woonsocket had of tying the score. Just for good measure the Trojans shoved across another run in the eighth when Murphy singled for the third time,
stole second and came in on Doyle's long single.

Crowd Dismisses War and Holds Purse Strings Tight—Convention Hall
a Busy Place.

War seems to have had no effect on the supply of gasoline, and increase in the price of tires does not seem to be realized by automobilists, if the number of machines which came in Broadway Sunday is any indication.
As usual, many of them made a full day of it and then dashed out towards the One Mile Corner in the early evening, in their haste to reach home.

In the afternoon machines were to be counted by scores back of the beach while their occupants were enjoying a shore dinner or some more elaborate feast. The day was right for a good crowd at the beach, also right for big bathing. The bathers said the water was fine and the air
also seemed to be fine for sun baths,
and by combining the two the crop of sunburns was a good one. For some reason some of the regular weekly bathers appeared to be affected by the color artist rather more than usual.

Some who thought they were in a position to judge ventured the opinion that for warm day the crowd seemed to hold their purse strings pretty tight. The people talked war and the stringency in the money market during the day was readily laid to that.
One does not hear as much in these days of sunbaths and the litter they cause on the beach and along the cliffs, but quantities of these hunches are still brought to Newport
and it is the provision made for these parties which has abated the nuisance.
The tables in the convention hall are
for the use of those who bring lunches
as well as those who buy from the counter, and it has been found that most of the parties find that the counter has something which makes an acceptable addition to what they bring.
Now that it has become generally known what quai and assortment
of food is carried at the lunch bar,
even to the extent of a regular dinner
at the cost of a couple of dimes, this has become one of the busiest places on the beach. Some Newporters now go to Hooper for their meals instead of going home.

JUST INSIDE HELL GATE.

Destroyer Ammen Guarding the Approach to Long Island Sound.

Saturday night a call for the crew of destroyer Ammen was made in the local theatres. The men were ordered to report on board ship at once, and later in the evening the last destroyer left here put out into the fog and to sea. There was much speculation as to the destination of the vessel on orders which required such a hurried calling together of the crew. Officially it was given out that she was going to New York, but from other sources there was a suggestion that she was called to Assistant Secretary Roosevelt's home on Long Island. Sunday the little vessel arrived off Execution rock, just inside Hell Gate, N. Y., and took station, her purpose being to guard the approach to Long Island sound, as the Florida and Drayton are guarding the main approach to the sea against the sailing of craft with supplies to the warships off the coast. It is reported that Saturday night the Florida fired at a merchantman which was seemingly trying to sneak out through the Narrows with all lights out, and then the Drayton put after her, firing once or twice and stopping her. The ship was forced to return to the Florida's anchorage, where an examination was made and she was allowed to proceed, but this time with lights burning.

POLICE COURT BUSINESS.

Mutual Assault Case and Stealing Chowder Kettle Prominent.

The police had business Sunday. There was a mutual assault case, in which Tony Andrews said he had been hit with a bottle and James Gones Rogers claimed to have been bitten on the hand. As a result Tony paid $12.50 and James $17.50. There was something more serious than this, however. A man was charged with stealing the celebrated chowder kettle in which Dexter Burdick has made so many good chowders. This was taken from his summer place and the loss would have been almost irreparable, but fortunately Inspector Tobin recovered the kettle. The culprit was fined $15 and costs, and as he had it not he went up to work it out.

A man for profane swearing paid $7.50 and two for drunkenness paid $4.50 each into the treasury.

Sunday Tiverton was heard from in the district court proceedings, four prisoners, each charged with using profane language, being brought in. All pleaded guilty, two paid $11.20 and two did not have the money.

This morning there was just one case, and that of the recent Portuguese trouble on Korry Hill. A man was fined $10 and costs for assault, and this may be the last heard of this case.

Officer Oxx found two stray horses on West Broadway and he turned them over to the pound keeper. This means that it is expensive to allow horses to roam at large in the public streets.

Officer Sweeney Sunday hoped to be out Wednesday, but those who saw the condition of his leg were of the opinion that it will be long after Wednesday before he will be able to use it effectively.

THE SUNDAY WAR NEWS SERVICE.

The Daily News had its Associated Press wire in operation throughout Sunday and the war news was given to the public both in bulletins and on the telephone. Both ways of providing the service seemed popular, for there were many reading the bulletins almost all the time and the telephone was busy throughout the day. To those at the office it was naturally not a very satisfactory day, as they could not get out much which seemed to be definite. The receipt of dispatches which denied previous ones was too frequently the case.

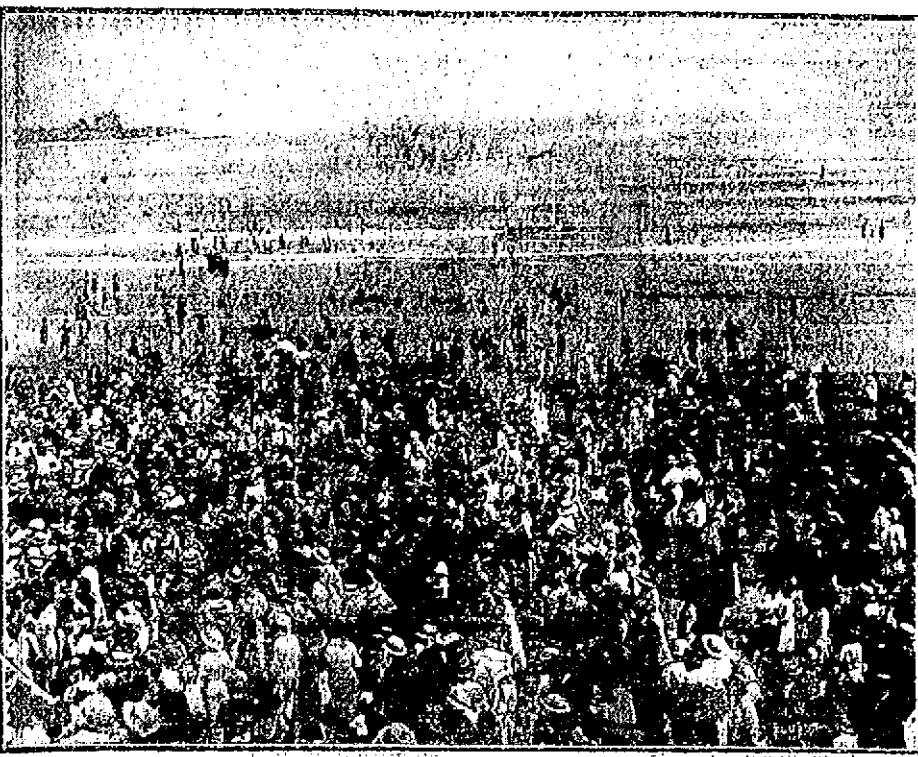

THE DUCHESS OF MARLBOROUGH'S PLANS.

The Duchess of Marlborough, upon sailing on the St. Paul, expressed her delight at being able to go back to her children in London. She said she was anxious to do something for the British soldiers and sailors who are engaged in the European war. She thought she would most likely organize a nursing corps as soon as she reached London, and would lend all the aid, both personal and financial, within her power.

THE BRITISH WAR RELIEF FUND.

The fund for relief of the poor in England during the war reached the sum of $1,135,000 in the first 21 hours. Among those who contributed were George Coad, the manufacturer, $25,000; Lord Ashton $15,000; the Rev. Charles $5,000; King George, Sir Ernest Cassel and Sir William Hartley, each $25,000; and dozens of other persons $5,000, including Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

Mr. and Mrs. Waldorf Astor have offered "Clivean," their beautiful home on the Thames, for the use of stranded Americans in London.

A CROWD AT THE BEACH.

It takes a great many people to crowd this place, even though so much of the space has been given over during the past three years to buildings. Yet the above picture shows that real crowds do actually gather there, even if, in the majority of photographs, taken when there are said to be large crowds, there seem to be great vacant spaces.

DEATH'S HEAVY TOLL.

Colonel John Schuyler Crosby, Distinguished as Soldier and Citizen.

Mrs. William Binney, Widely Known; Mrs. Sarah A. Goffe and Raymond J. Seligman.

Colonel John Schuyler Crosby, a distinguished soldier of the Civil war, a descendant of two noted American families; former governor of Montana and first assistant postmaster general of the United States, died Saturday afternoon at the Newport Hospital, where he had been since Tuesday, suffering from heart disease. He married Harriet Van Rensselaer, daughter of the last patron of Albany, N. Y., who died three years ago. He was in his seventy-sixth year. The deceased, who made his home at the Union Club, New York, had been cruising for several weeks with Mr. Lloyd Phoenix on board the latter's auxiliary schooner. Intrepid "Crosby" became so ill that Mr. Phoenix and his old friend, Mr. E. Rollins Morse, accompanied him to the hospital. His son, Mr. Stephen Van Rensselaer Crosby, was called from Boston and arrived after his father's death. The body will be taken to Albany for interment. He was born in Albany in 1839. During the Civil war he served with distinction, and was appointed colonel of the Seventh New York heavy artillery. He was consul to Florence, Italy, in 1876; governor of Montana from 1882 to 1884, while it was a territory; first assistant postmaster general of the United States from 1888 to 1896, and school commissioner of New York City from 1897 to 1899. During the Civil war he was repeatedly promoted for bravery, and continued his record under Sheridan and Custer in the Indian wars. President Lincoln once personally thanked him for carrying dispatches. While in Italy he captured a band of criminals in Tuscany, and received a decoration from the King. In June, 1913, he was awarded a gold medal by the American Cross of Honor Society for saving the life of Miss Edith May, who was on board yacht Mohawk, which sank in New York harbor in 1876. While bedridden from illness in January of 1913, Colonel Crosby's giant Japanese valet, Iwamoto, suddenly went insane and attacked the sick man with a dagger. Colonel Crosby jumped from bed and, grappling with the valet, subdued him before the police arrived. He was then in his seventy-fifth year and the encounter was a severe shock to the sick man. Colonel Crosby was a great-grandson of William Floyd, signer of the Declaration of Independence, and a lineal descendant.

Mrs. Josephine Angier, widow of William Binney, one of the oldest of the summer residents of Newport, died Sunday at her residence on Catherine street, of diseases incident to old age. She had been coming here for 30 years and was widely known among the older summer and permanent residents. She was a regular attendant at the Channing Memorial Church and contributed generously to its funds. Mrs. Binney was a daughter of Rev. Joseph and Elizabeth Bolch Angier of Milton, Mass., and married Mr. William Binney of Providence in 1870; he died five years ago. She had no children. Mrs. Samuel Powell and Mr. William Binney of Providence and Mr. Horace Binney, now residing in France, being step-children.

Mrs. Sarah A. Goffe, widow of Augustus Goffe, died late Saturday afternoon at her residence on Broadway and Rhode Island avenues, after an illness incident to old age. She observed her eighty-eighth birthday the day preceding her death, being the last of a large family of children, who included Messrs. Jacob, Thomas, Perry, William and Benjamin Weaver, Mrs. John Stanhope and Mrs. Walter Cozens. Her husband, who died 11 years ago, was for many years one of the leading merchants in Newport. She is survived by four children—Mr.

EASIEST KIND OF PICKING.

Woonsocket Fall to Trojans, Not Putting Up Stiff Fight Expected.

Newports Win Nip-and-Tuck Battle from Attleboro—Training Station Defeats Warren.

The Woonsocket Independents, one of whom was a member of the Woonsocket Colonial League team, were the easiest kind of picking for the Trojans Sunday afternoon at Wellington park, the latter winning 9-2. When once the locals started the little opposition the visitors put up was soon swept away, the Trojans clearing the decks with 13 safe smashes. The upstate team made but five hits off Sheehan, who was invincible after the first innings. Woonsocket did not put up the stiff battle expected, and early in the contest were seen not to be in the Trojans' class at all.

Johnny Murphy was the leading hitter, making three singles in four tries, besides scoring three runs and stealing two bases. The Brown man from New Bedford was a veritable streak on the bases, his speed enabling him to beat out his first infield put for a hit. Doyle was the next high man with the club, making three singles in five trips to the rubber, while Martin, Smith and Sheehan made two each.

Woonsocket showed a flash in the opening inning, Williams led off with a single and went around to third on Harris's wild heave over Smith's head, on Lennon's tap in front of the plate. Williams was run down between third and home on Campbell's grounder to Sheehan. Pelouquin, who was almost the whole Woonsocket team, smashed one of Sheehan's first ones for a clean two-bagger, scoring Lennon and Campbell. Snyder struck out. Martin ended the inning when he made a remarkable catch of H. Murray, coming in on the dead run and catching the ball with a dive forward.

Sheehan sent in the first Trojan run after Smith had singled and stolen second. After the fifth inning, in which the Trojans had more in the game was all theirs, four more in the sixth, blanking whatever hopes Woonsocket had of tying the score. Just for good measure the Trojans shoved across another run in the eighth, when Murphy singled for the third time, stole second and came in on Doyle's long single.

REPORTS OF FIRING.

Reports continue to come from along shore of the firing of big guns. From Warren's point, Little Compton, is heard a story of firing Friday night at 10:30 violent enough to shake the houses and rattle the doors. There was nothing in the firing line here which would cause any such report. There have been times when there was night firing, but nothing of late other places make similar reports. It does not seem possible that all can be the results of imagination, and not little other reason can be thought of.

CLAM BAKE CLUB ELECTION.

At the annual meeting of the Newport Clam Bake Club, Saturday afternoon, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President—William R. Hunter. Secretary—George H. Scott. Treasurer—Henry H. Ward. Executive Committee—Wendell C. VanDyke, George D. Widener, Jr., Dr. Harry J. Knapp, William Grosvenor.

Mr. Frederick H. Thine, who had been secretary of the club for several years, declined a re-election and Mr. Scott was chosen in his place.

SAIL, BASE BALL AND DINNER.

A number of members of the daughters of sea-birds and their friends, who constitute what is known as "The Trojans," had a sailing party on the Oracle in the bay Sunday, going nearly to Providence. Dinner was served while the boat was off Conanicut Park, the crew putting an end to a base ball game between teams captained by Miss Annie Erie and Mr. Patrick McKee and composed respectively of women and men. The game was not finished, as the players were not in a mood for base ball after the beautiful dinner.

BOTH WATER AND AIR FINE.

Scores of Automobiles Back of Beach While Owners Enjoy Themselves.

Crowd Dismisses War and Holds Purse Strings Tight—Convention Hall a Busy Place.

War seems to have had no effect on the supply of gasoline, and increase in the price of tires does not seem to be realized by automobilists. If the number of machines which came in Broadway Sunday is any indication. As usual, many of them made a full day of it and then dashed out towards the One Mile Corner in the early evening, in their haste to reach home.

In the afternoon machines were to be counted by scores back of the beach while their occupants were enjoying a shore dinner or some more elaborate feast. The day was right for a good crowd at the beach, also right for big bathing. The bathers said the water was fine and the air also seemed to be fine for sun baths, and by combining the two the crop of sun burns was a good one. For some reason the people in the regular weekly bathers appeared to be affected by the color artist rather more than usual.

Some who thought they were in a position to judge ventured the opinion that for a warm day the crowd seemed to hold their purse strings pretty tight. The people in the regular weekly bathers appeared to be affected by the color artist rather more than usual.

One does not hear so much in these days about box lunches and the litter they cause on the beach and along the cliffs, but quantities of these lunches are still brought to Newport and it is the provision made for these parties which has about the number. The tables in the convention hall are for the use of those who bring lunches as well as those who buy from the counter, and it has been found that most of the parties find that the counter has something which makes an acceptable addition to what they bring. Now that it has become generally known what quality and assortment of food is carried at the lunch bar, even to the extent of a regular dinner at the cost of a couple of times, this has become one of the busiest places on the beach. Some Newporters now go there for their meals instead of going home.

The new life savers' seats, perched high above the crowds, appear to be a decided addition to the accommodations given the members of the patrol.

LUNCHEONS AND DINNERS.

Luncheons were given Saturday by Mrs. W. Goodby Lewis, Mrs. Robert K. Cassatt, Mrs. Frank K. Sturgis, Miss Charlotte Pell, the last named at Berger's. Mrs. William Grosvenor gave a tea and Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Mr. and Mrs. W. Earl Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver G. Jennings, Mrs. Robert Kelsa Cassatt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gammell, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Beckman entertained at dinner.

Mrs. R. Livingston Beckman gave a luncheon and Mrs. August Belmont, Mrs. Hamilton Oak, Trombly, Mrs. Ogden Mills, Mrs. Pembroke Jones and Mrs. Herbert M. Harriman dined Sunday.
